VAN FLEET AND ARMY CHIEFS IN "SHOWDOWN" MEETING

DANISH SHIPS ARE REPORTED HELD CAPTIVE

Copenhagen, Denmark, March 9 (AP)—Reliable sources reported today that Communist Poland is holding six Danish fishing vessels active in the port of Gdansk (Danzig), possibly in reprisal for Denmark's retention of a Soviet-built, Polish MIG15 jet fighter plane.

Authoritative sources said seven Danish fishing craft took refuge in the Polish port from a raging storm Sunday and were ordered to leave "in three minutes." One after the other, they were held. The six ships carried a total of about 200 crewmen, the sources said. Their fate was unknown.

Though numerous Scandinavian craft have been detained by Polish Coast Guard vessels in recent years, six is the largest number ever held at one time. Political circles here viewed the action as retaliation for Denmark's failure to far to release the fugitive MIG.

The plane was flown last Thursday to the Danish island of Bornholm, 60 miles from the Polish coast, by a 21-year-old Polish fighter pilot who said he wanted political asylum. He has been held ever since by Danish authorities, who have not announced what they plan to do with him.

His plane, the first undamaged MIG to fall into Western hands, was disassembled and brought here yesterday by the small Danish lighthouse supply vessel Argus for close study by Air Force experts. Two small warships escorted the Argus on her eight-hour voyage across the Baltic.

Senator Has Idea For Long Holiday Weekends

Harrisburg (AP)—Sen. Edward J. Kessler (R-Lancaster) wants to make it easier to enjoy long holiday week ends.

His idea is simple. Just fix it so most of the legal holidays fall on a Monday.

Under a bill he introduced in the Senate last night, the third Monday of February would become President Day. That, of course, would take care of Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays.

Instead of observing May 30 as Memorial Day, the holiday would fall on the last Monday of May.

The first Monday in July would become Independence Day, spelling the end of the Fourth of July holiday.

And Thanksgiving? No more question of what Thursday it should be. His idea is to make it the fourth Monday in November.

PONY LEAGUE TEAM WILL STAY IN OLEAN

Olean, N. Y. (AP)—Stockholders of the Olean Yankees announced last night they would field a team this year in the Class D Pony League.

Mayor William N. Davis was elected president. He succeeds Harold T. Chesbro.

Wallace Dasaf, retiring secretary-treasurer, reported the club was $800 short of meeting its commitments to the league. Davis said that could be raised easily through advance sales.

The New York Yankees have indicated they wish to keep their working agreement with Olean.

Skepticism Greets Opening of State Legislature's Economy Hearings Today

Harrisburg, (AP)—Outspoken skepticism greeted the opening of the Legislature's economy hearings today.

Rep. Adam T. Bower (R-Northumberland) may have set the tone of the hearings by describing a $100,000,000 economy estimate as "a turkey that can't be accomplished."

Bower is co-chairman of a 30-member legislative committee set up to inquire into how the Chesterman Committee reached the 100 million dollar figure it suggested in its state government savings.

The Chesterman group, headed by Francis J. Chesterman, Philadelphia, recently reported to Gov. John S. Fine on a wholesale reorganization of the state govern-

Many Matters of Importance Considered at Meeting of Warren Area Joint Schools

Approval of a budget totaling $453,637.94 was given last night by the Warren Area Joint Schools at its March meeting, and approval of the Warren Area Joint School Board Authority was reported by Solicitor R. Pierson Eaton. The Department of State has given its endorsement to formation of the Authority, the purpose of which is to provide construction of an addition to Beatty Junior High school, and articles of incorporation have been issued.

The largest item in the budget is the expense of instruction, $363,436.37, or 80 per cent of the total. Operation, consisting of janitors' salaries, heat, light and cleaning is 8.5 per cent, fixed charges made up of payments to the retirement system, insurance and rent is 5 per cent; with general control, auxiliary agencies, maintenance and capital outlay making up the rest.

SOVIETS AIM TO CONTINUE CHINESE UNITY

Moscow, (AP)—The new Russian government named Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily Kuznetsov its envoy to Beijing today, emphasizing Prime Minister Georgi Malenkov's promise of continued unity with Communist China.

The announcement of the appointment of Kuznetsov, a leading figure in the Soviet Communist party and long the head of Russia's trade unions, appeared in the same issue of the Moscow newspaper Pravda as a eulogy of the late Prime Minister Stalin, written by Communist Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung.

Kuznetsov succeeds Alexander Panyushkin, former Russian ambassador to the United States. Panyushkin, the announcement said, was recalled in connection with his "transfer to other work." He had been shifted from Washington to Beijing only last June.

Kuznetsov is a personable official who speaks good English. He is a graduate of the School of Mines at the Carnegie Institute of Technology at Pittsburgh, Pa.

In his Pravda eulogy, Mao declared "the great friendship of the peoples of China and the Soviet Union is inviolable. Any imperialist aggression whatsoever will be routed by us."

The appointment of Kuznetsov offered some support for Western beliefs that the Kremlin is uneasy about the reactions of Mao Tse-tung, the boss of Red China, toward the Malenkov government.

Many Moscowites visited Red Square today to see again the big Red marble tomb of Lenin in which the body of Joseph Stalin was buried yesterday.

Above the huge metal doors, where previously was carved the single name "Lenin," the two names now appear in red letters on a black sign—"Lenin" above, "Stalin" under it.

The tomb is closed to the public at present but it was announced that the people would be in informed when it would be opened. Presumably this would be soon.

Some sources have suggested that the Chinese leader is likely to demand a much greater voice in world Communist planning than he claimed when Joseph Stalin was alive and in the saddle.

In forming the Jointure, the Board agreed to pay the costs on the basis of the number of pupils in school, and using that as a basis the per cent each district will pay is as follows: Clarendon, 3.98 per cent; Conewango, 12.72; Elk, 5.3; Glade, 5.75; Kinzua, 2.49; Mead, 6.09; Pleasant, 4.65; Warren, 62.85; and Watson, .72.

These figures will be used until June, 1954, when the exact numbers are available, then adjustments will be made both in the per cent and money actually spent.

The cost of the addition to Beatty is not included in this budget, but will be included the following year. The construction will be done by the Authority and paid for with the receipts of the bonds the Authority will sell. Rental to the Authority will begin the following year.

Following the Jointure meeting, the Joint board went into session with a majority of the members of each board in attendance, and made arrangements for the new Authority to meet in Warren High School at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday for organizing and election of officers.

As required by law, the Joint Board approved a $200 yearly increase in salary for all Warren High School and Beatty teachers as well as for Howard A. Thompson of Lincoln school at Clarendon Heights.

Solicitor Eaton reported that it would be possible, since W. H. Cowden is treasurer for both the Jointure and the Warren Board, to obtain a joint bond.

Tickets for Girls' Gymnastic Program Are Now Available

Tickets for the Girls' Gymnastic Exhibition in Beatty Junior High School Thursday and Friday of this week, are now on sale at the Warren High School office and at both the YWCA Activities Building and the YMCA office.

Sponsored by the Girls' Athletic Association, the exhibition, which will begin at 8 o'clock, will include both high school and Beatty Junior High School students. Under the direction of Mrs. Jane Black, physical instructor at Beatty, and Miss Marty Sable, teacher of physical education at the high school, the girls will perform various gymnastic skills, routines, and dances.

The Beatty students will do a precision drill, a square dance, a twirling routine, a novelty dance, and for their last number they will form the Beatty "B."

The high school girls' program includes rhythmic, marching, balance, pyramid, and more advanced skills in tumbling and apparatus.

In one of the feature attractions of the program, Richard Hegerty, John "Toby" Shea, and Ronald Wood will do "Men in Silver", in which they will symbolize various phases of physical education.

Legion Post Members Enjoy Spaghetti Dinner and Make Plans For Birthday Program

Members of Chief Cornplanter Post No. 135, American Legion, enjoyed a spaghetti dinner last night at the Legion Home, took in 47 new members and made plans for the annual birthday party of the Post to be held on March 17th.

Over 85 members were served a delicious spaghetti dinner in the post dining rooms at 7 o'clock. The dinner committee consisted of Louis Vizza, Gust Geracimos, Bob Lundberg and Thomas Conway.

At the regular Legion meeting 47 new members were admitted to the Post and a group of 16 new members were part of the initiation class which was formally inducted into membership. Jack Barr, Commander of Chief Cornplanter Post, presided and was assisted by other post officers.

Local Police Dep't To Be Represented At Training School

It was announced at last evening's meeting of borough council that the Pennsylvania Chiefs of Police Association has awarded a scholarship to the Warren police department in the sum of $100 toward defraying expenses of a local officer to attend a two-week session of Traffic Officers' Training School at State College from May 11 to 22.

Chief of Police Mike Evan said that the local department was one of five in Pennsylvania to be so honored.

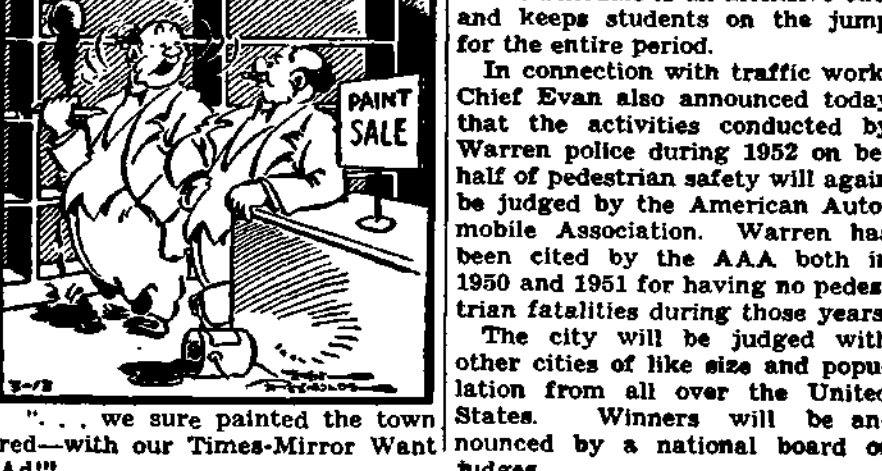

Burgess William Crosssett and Chief Evan will name the man to be given the scholarship, and in addition, one other officer from the Warren department will attend the school. His expenses are provided in the budget adopted by council.

During the course, which was attended last summer by Chief Evan, the following phases of traffic work are studied under a faculty of outstanding traffic engineers: accident investigation, traffic law enforcement, the vehicle code, proper case preparation, tracing of stolen vehicles, safety education, traffic engineering, and public relations and related subjects.

The schedule is an intensive one, and keeps students on the jump for the entire period.

In connection with traffic work, Chief Evan also announced today that the activities conducted by Warren police during 1952 on behalf of pedestrian safety will again be judged by the American Automobile Association. Warren has been cited by the AAA both in 1950 and 1951 for having no pedestrian fatalities during those years.

The city will be judged with other cities of like size and population from all over the United States. Winners will be announced by a national board of judges.

Record Budget of $339,670 Is Provided With Reduction In Levy at Busy March Session

The new Warren Borough tax rate is 16 mills—down from 19½ in 1952!

As a result of increased assessments throughout the borough, Council last night approved a three-and-a-half mill slash in 1953 tax rates, and at the same time adopted a record $339,670 budget.

The millage reduction breaks down as follows:
General Fund, cut from 1952's 15 mills to 12½ mills.
Debt reduction, cut from 3 to 2¼ mills.

Councilman Leon Laskaris, chairman of the Finance Committee, first presented the 1953 budget adoption resolution and followed up with the ordinance fixing the millage. Before presenting it for adoption, Mr. Laskaris asked Borough President William E. Rice to summarize the tax rate.

President Rice pointed out that the new assessments were increased about $4,700,000 over 1952, and that the finance committee and the borough manager had recommended the maximum slash in millage possible—the approved 3½ mills.

He recalled that at budget meetings held in December that Council had been unanimous in its determination to give as much tax relief as the new assessments would make possible, and that all committees had been "very realistic" in preparing the 1953 budget. He noted that the increase in 1953 expenditures is almost entirely accounted for by salary increases for borough employees and by the contemplated purchase of a new fire pumper.

The adoption of the budget and the setting of the tax rate were of the principal interest in the session which lasted only an hour and ten minutes. The matter of the purchase of a portion of the filled-in mill race was laid over until April due to the absence of Chairman S. H. Rasmussen and because the Planning Commission's meeting is not scheduled until Wednesday of this week.

Councilman Wayne Painter, vice-chairman of the Public Safety Committee, reported that due to the illness of Fire Chief Charles Albough, Captain James Tridico had been placed in charge of the department temporarily.

He also disclosed that the Police Chiefs' Association of Pennsylvania had awarded a $100 scholarship to a traffic training school to a member of the Warren force to be designated by the chief and the Burgess. Council approved a motion to send two officers to this school, to be held in State College in May, one to go on the scholarship and another to be sent by the borough.

President Rice mentioned that this scholarship spoke well for the department, the Burgess and Chief Evan. It is believed that this is the first such scholarship to be awarded locally. Chief Evan attended the school in 1952.

A bid for old bicycles accumulated by the department was rejected because it was not accompanied by a certified check. The Public Safety committee was authorized to offer the lot of "bikes" for sale again.

Councilman W. Beyer Africa injected a query as to whether the (Turn to Page Eight)

Tots Hit by Cars Are Not Seriously Hurt

Two youngsters were struck by automobiles yesterday, city police reported this morning. Neither was seriously injured.

At 4:30 p. m. yesterday, Allen Tuttle, 13, son of James Tuttle, 118 Grant street, ran in front of a car operated by Paul Griffith and owned by Vergie Griffith, of Sheffield. Griffith told police that the accident occurred when he was driving west on Pennsylvania avenue and made a right turn into Conewango. Young Tuttle sustained a fracture of the left leg, and was taken to Warren General Hospital where he was treated and discharged.

At 7:30 p. m., Raymond Francis, Warren RD 1, reported to police that while driving west on Pennsylvania avenue at South street, a boy, presumably about eight or nine years old, ran from the south side of the street in front of Francis' car and was struck by the left front fender and knocked down.

The lad jumped up from the street, said he was not hurt and took off before his name could be learned.

SEC. WILSON QUESTIONED AT HEARING

Washington (AP)—Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson said today enough ammunition will be available soon to give the Eighth Army command in Korea "considerable latitude" in determining whether there should be "a more active type of operations."

His statement, carrying a hint of possible early stepped up blows, or even a limited offensive against the Communists, was made to senators inquiring into the ammunition supply situation.

Wilson said ammunition production has been expanded rapidly in recent months. He declared supplies in Korea are adequate to meet present needs.

Wilson was first of a number of top level civilian and military leaders to testify before the Senate Armed Services Committee at an inquiry into charges by Gen. James A. Van Fleet that supplies of some ammunition have been and still are critically short.

Van Fleet, retiring commander of the Eighth Army in Korea, stirred up the controversy over ammunition shortages by public and closed-door testimony before Senate committees last week.

For what senators called today's "showdown," Van Fleet met face-to-face with Wilson, Secretary of the Army; Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, and other Pentagon leaders.

Although the hearing was behind closed doors, prepared statements by Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass.) and Secretary Wilson were handed to reporters outside.

Saltonstall told the military and defense leaders that Congress and the public "are seriously disturbed about conflicting reports as to the adequacy of ammunition supplies available to our fighting forces in Korea."

Wilson indicated in his statement that he and President Eisenhower had gone into the question of ammunition shortages and Gen. Van Fleet's complaints at the time they visited Korea last year after the election and prior to taking office.

There have been recurrent reports for months of an ammunition shortage. Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, went before the Senate group several months ago and told them enough ammunition had been furnished at all times for the Eighth Army to carry out its mission in Korea.

TRUCK DRIVER KILLED

Pittsburgh (AP)—James W. Anderson, 24, of Aliquippa, was killed yesterday as his truck careened out of control down a steep hill in nearby Coraopolis and crashed into a house. Anderson, a driver for Unis and Sons Coal Co. of Aliquippa, tried to jump from his loaded nine-ton truck after its brakes failed. His foot apparently caught in the doorway and he was thrown under the wheels.

PROPOSERS OF STATEHOOD ARE HOPEFUL

Washington (AP)—Proponents of statehood for Hawaii predicted the House today would pass—for the third time—a bill admitting the islands to the Union.

But opponents counted on a coalition of Democrats and Republicans from big states for possible success in a move to return the statehood bill to committee for further study.

Southern Democrats, who led the opposition in House debate yesterday, figured they might lose 25 Democratic votes, largely from the West. But they said they might be able to pick up enough offsetting Republican votes from New York and other big states.

Only two Democrats spoke in favor of Hawaii statehood yesterday. They were Rep. Engle (D-Calif.), senior Democrat on the House Interior Committee, and the nonvoting delegate from Alaska.

Democrats generally feel that Alaska statehood is being shunted aside by the Republican administration in the hope of gaining political advantage from the admission of traditionally Republican Hawaii as the 49th state.

Democratic leaders sought unsuccessfully in the past two Congresses to obtain enactment of statehood bills for both Hawaii and Alaska. Although the House passed both bills, they failed in the Senate. Senate prospects for the Hawaiian bill look bright this year.

Delegate Bartlett (D-Alaska) told the House yesterday he believes the fate of Alaska is tied to the Hawaiian bill.

MENINGITIS CLOSES SCHOOL IN DUBOIS

DuBois (AP)—DuBois Junior High School is closed today following the death of one of its pupils, John Murdock, 13, who died of meningococcal meningitis.

The school's 550 pupils were recessed yesterday for one week. The victim was the son of the school's physician, Dr. Fred E. Murdock.

Red Cross Sends Out Warning to Drive Workers for Speed Up in Solicitations

Divisions are still hard at work and hope to have their reports complete before the end of the week.

Donald E. Schuler, in charge of rural areas is confident that when his returns are all in it will be seen that the county did a good job as before.

Since tomorrow will be Blood Bank Day at Red Cross Headquarters it will be impossible to do much tabulating of returns then.

However by Thursday it is expected that returns from all sources will begin to show hoped for results.

All workers in all divisions are asked to have returns available by Thursday or Friday auge.

Industrial Management Group Hears Talk, Plans Elections

Members of the Board of Governors of the Industrial Management Association of Warren County announced the appointment of Carl Jones as chairman with Wendell Lawson and Hilmer Roos as the other members of a nominating committee to report on a slate of new officers at the April meeting at the Association's monthly dinner meeting in the YMCA last night.

Dr. Robert Israel, superintendent of Warren State Hospital, was guest speaker for the event and told of the functioning of the big hospital. He was introduced by Wade Barr.

Special entertainment was provided by the Conti Sisters, Grace and Ann, who pleased the group with a skit and vocal numbers.

Francis Helnick explained the chapel setting being arranged by the Christian Businessmen's committee.

It was announced that the management development group will start its sessions on March 16, with three meetings on successive Mondays, March 16, 23 and 30. Lee Webster, who has been ill, was welcomed back for his first meeting in some time.

The invocation was given by Hilmer Roos and group singing was led by Chris Pepke with Lynn Keller at the piano.

Bids for the Corry Area School To Be Read This Evening

Tonight will decide whether the Corry area joint junior-senior high school, which has been in the planning stage for the past several months, will be built this year.

In announcing that the Area Schools Authority will meet at 7:45 this evening to open bids at eight p. m., on the structure which the architect has estimated will cost in the neighborhood of $2,255,000, the Journal says.

If the bids on all phases of the work fall close to this total it is likely that the construction of several phases of the work will be awarded in the near future.

If they should exceed this estimate by an appreciable amount the Authority would probably reject the bids and recommend to the Joint School Board that the plans and specifications be revised.

Architect Walter Campbell, who will attend tomorrow night's session, has informed school authorities that after hearing the bids on general construction, plumbing and heating, electrical work, etc., along with the alternate bids which have been requested, he will be able to supply the Authority with a figure as to what the low total of the aggregate bids will be.

While school board members from Corry, Columbus, Springfield, Elgin and Wayne and Concord townships have had a part in planning the 40-room one-story building, it will be up to the Authority to let the contracts, arrange for financing and carry out all details in getting the structure completed.

Once it is finished the building will be turned over to the joint school district under a lease arrangement with the Authority. Through yearly rentals the six districts will pay off the cost of the structure over a 30 to 40 year period.

In addition to the large number of school board members, those on the Authority along with contractors entering bids, the meeting may also be attended by any members of the public.

Goals of Labor in Collective Bargaining Subject of Paper Before Social Science Club

The Social Science Club was well favored with a discussion at the Woman's Club Saturday night by one conversant with his subject and with liberal views toward the different phases of industry. The speaker, Arthur B. White represents the International Association of Machinists, one of the oldest unions on the North American Continent. He said, "We are believers in true democracy, the rank and file of our organization run the Union, there is no dictatorship directed at our membership from the top down."

Excerpts from Mr. White's discussion follow:

The Goals of Labor in Collective Bargaining:

- 1—Better wages, shorter hours in order to permit the workers greater participation in American living, and to enable them to live at consistently higher standards. Sixteen million families now have incomes of less than $2000 per year.

- 2—Rest periods, recreational programs to enable employees to produce more by being rested and at ease which will in turn help the employer.
- 3—Health and welfare plans to help alleviate the risk of financial burdens, to take a vital part in legislative acts having to do with safety, industrial health, sanitation, and public health.
- 4—Old age pensions, another goal to bring about greater security in life, and to bring younger people into industry so that we can maintain a full economy and full production.
- 5—Helping the physically handicapped, to promote the full utilization of all man power, to inculcate

USE DUMMY'S ACE, WIN FIRST SPADE

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service After North's raise in today's hand, South counts 16 points in high cards, 2 points for the singleton, and 1 point for the fifth heart. (When your suit has been raised by your partner, you may count 1 point extra for each card over four in the trump suit.)

With a count of 19 points, South needs only 7 points from North to bid a game. North has already promised about that much for his raise to two hearts, so South bids the game without further ado.

The play for the game contract is simple, but worth looking at. If South draws three rounds of trumps after winning the first trick with the ace of spades, he will lose his game contract. No matter how he struggles, he will then wind up losing three diamonds and a club. Nothing can prevent the loss of the three diamond tricks, but South can prevent the loss of a club. If each opponent has three clubs, declarer's last club will be good. If the clubs are 4-2, or worse, however, South must plan to ruff his low club in dummy.

For this reason the correct line of play is to win the first spade with dummy's ace, draw exactly two rounds of trumps, and then proceed to lay down the three top clubs. If both opponents can follow to all three rounds of clubs, South can then draw a third trump to all three rounds of clubs and cash his last club.

If the clubs fail to break evenly, South must hope that the player with the long clubs will also have the last trump.

In this case South's hope is rewarded. He gets away with his three top clubs and can ruff his last club in dummy. He therefore succeeds in making his game contract.

What would happen if one of the opponents had only two clubs but three trumps? In that case, the opponent would trump the third high club, and South would be defeated. No other line of play could make the contract, however, so South loses nothing by making his best attempt.

RED CROSS NEEDS FUNDS AND BLOOD

"I know the Red Cross," says President Eisenhower. I have known it in peace and in two world wars. So he knows that "whatever the time or the need, it is dedicated to strengthening the nation by helping people to help themselves and their neighbors."

This year the Red Cross has unusual needs—it needs money to carry on its usual work, and it has joined the fight against infantile paralysis. The financial goal has been put at $93,000,000. It also seeks to collect five million pints of blood, for the armed forces, for civil defense, for civilian sick and injured, and for those whom the President describes as "those most precious civilians of all—our children."

The Red Cross is a typically American institution. "What people do through the Red Cross, they do in the spirit of free men and women voluntarily giving themselves to help their neighbors in time of personal tragedy, disaster or emergency," as General Eisenhower put it. "No one knows where these calamities will take place. But everyone knows that the Red Cross will be there."

This has been demonstrated over and over again, in Warren county and elsewhere. There is no doubt but what Warren county will do its part in helping to equip the Red Cross to function during the coming year. And its citizens, we believe, will see to it that visits of the Buffalo Unit of the Bloodmobile will meet the assigned quotas.

THE COMMUNIST LINE

Just because Malenkov didn't threaten war in his funeral oration for Stalin is no reason for the West to feel safer, warns James Marlow, Associated Press feature writer in his column "The World Today." Malenkov sounded fairly peaceful because he had to. Marlow continues:

It's the Communist line: Russia is the No. 1 peace-loving nation. Stalin established it. Malenkov has been following it. He must do so here at the start of his regime, at least, to build confidence of the Russian masses in him.

War talk the first time he opened his mouth after Stalin's death would cause more fright than devotion. What he and the party actually do later is not necessarily connected with what Malenkov says now or later.

He said his policy is based on the "Lenin-Stalin promise of the possibility of the prolonged co-existence and peaceful competition of two different systems, capitalist and socialist."

The trouble with the word "prolonged" as he used it is that it does not mean "forever." Prolonged means for a while. Lennin laid down the doctrine which says "peaceful co-existence" can't last forever.

The Communists already have proved in Korea what they'd try when they thought they might get away with it. From communism's viewpoint it's good psychology, for more than one reason, to call Russia the No. 1 peace lover.

Spiritual Diary for Lent

We are not cowards . . . —2 Corinthians 4:1 (Weymouth)

Today's Message

Here, in our text, is the boast of an intrepid warrior in the faith. The tide of battle had run strongly against Paul and his associates in the Christian enterprise. They had been assailed by vicious and overwhelming odds in a war that threatened their complete annihilation. Bedraggled and bloody, without food and shelter, worn out by the long siege and all but exhausted, they never faltered. That was a day when men had convictions for which they were willing to fight—a time when men had the courage of their convictions.

Whence came so great a courage? Ah, these early disciples believed profoundly in the cause which possessed them, believed this world could never be saved from itself except this cause be established here, its principles governing the motives and actions of men, its ideals challenging the devotion and providing the goals for individuals and corporate groups, its spirit permeating the whole economy of this earth. And they believed in Him who had given them the vision of a new and better world—believed they were His agents to bring it about. The gigantic undertaking made courage imperative. "We are not cowards," said Paul.

Today's Prayer

"God of grace and God of glory, on Thy people pour Thy power. Grant us courage, grant us wisdom, for the facing of this hour . . ." Amen.

Here And There

The other day we had occasion to bring down from the attic the Evening Mirror file January 2 to June 30, 1891, for a subscriber who was looking up some genealogical facts, and, as is usually the case, we could not resist doing a little browsing, during which we picked up the following paragraphs from the "Daily Reflections" column:

Cleopatra yellow is a new color in vogue with fashionable ladies. Some of the boys still stick to Mark Antony carmine.

The horse sale at Siggins barn this morning was largely attended, and the horses sold brought the usual good prices.

"The Arrow," advocate of prohibition, is making rapid strides under the new management, and since Mr. Buell took over has improved wonderfully.

March seems to be intent on putting on the usual quota of traditional weather. A change to milder weather may be looked for before many moons come and go.

Seven tramps, less than the usual number, were furnished with lodging and breakfast at Warren's renowned "Home for Friendless and Workless Wanderers." And till they come Revive the chain gang.

Mattie Vickers, the charming comedienne, will appear at the Liberty theatre, on March 18 in her new Swiss drama, "Edelweiss." Titusville will have her race track. It will be a kite-shaped male track, and completed by June 1.

"Dad's Girl," which Mora presents at the Liberty theatre, is one of the best plays in her repertoire, and last year drew an exceedingly large crowd here.

The proposal that the chain gang be revived for the benefit of tramps meets with general approval of the citizens.

We have the name of a little tike, about four and one-half years of age, who is anxious to have a puppy, female preferred. Nice part about the appeal is that his mother assures us it is okay for him to have a pet. Any person having a dog that might fill the bill is urged to call 5807-J-1, or send a note or telephone this column, 1400.

Terse, Tart and Timely: It was just twenty years ago about this time of the month of March in 1933 that the three and four alleys were placed in use at the Warren Elks club basement. . . James A. Murrin, who has assumed the position of postmaster of Franklin, has resigned as editor of the Franklin News-Herald, a post he held for twenty years, which is taken over by Wayne W. Speaking of newspaper changes, Bert Freed named news editor of The Bradford Era, has had 16 years experience in the newspaper business going to Bradford from Clean, N. Y., where he operated the Olean news bureau of the Buffalo Courier-Express. . . Persons interested should keep in mind that the annual meeting of the Warren County Historical Society will be held Thursday evening, March 12th, at eight o'clock, instead of Wednesday as previously reported. . .

BLUE CROSS

The Non-Profit Plan for Hospital Care

A Symbol of Security for 43,000,000 Persons

The Blue Cross symbol tells the story. There, in the center of the cross, appears the insignia of the American Hospital Association. No other hospitalization plan but Blue Cross may use this insignia—for only Blue Cross meets the A.H.A.'s high standards of approval.

And this is what it means to you! As the only protection plan sponsored and endorsed by the hospitals themselves, only Blue Cross can offer member-hospital benefits without cash limitation. Yes, only Blue Cross provides for actual hospital services regardless of how much they cost.

That's why Blue Cross is truly a symbol of financial security for more than 43,000,000 subscribers throughout the nation—more than 1,700,000 in Western Pennsylvania alone! Why not find out for yourself how much Blue Cross membership can mean? Just mail this coupon today.

"The Beautiful Allegheny Valley"

(By JOHN SALES)

CHAPTER ONE

To you my friends and others of my acquaintance, who have to read these lines, I wish to introduce you to a Travelog I am about to pursue, with the thought and sincere hope it provides you with a measure of reading pleasure. The following has been written with the object in view of better familiarizing the community and environs with the wide open spaces about us including its build-up and activities and a few of nature's beauties therein of which I am presenting a meager description.

While highway route No. 62 is not classed as one of the main arteries for travel in this section yet its steadily increasing traffic indicates it is making rapid progress in that direction. Through the Spring, Summer and Fall the average daily traffic on this sixteen miles of the Dream highway approaches eight hundred vehicles. It is much traveled for the rich scenic beauty that nature has clothed the valley in.

The portion of highway 62 which is covered by my story was constructed in 1928 of concrete at a cost of one million dollars and is of standard 18 foot width. It is a practically level highway, with its numerous graceful easy curves and very few gentle grades hardly worthy of mention. This was difficult territory in which to build and maintain a highway and while it is not all that one might wish for, it is very good and the fact should be remembered that there is no perfect highway this side of Heaven. However, it has become so endeared to the constant users and those who reside along its course that they named it the Dream Highway.

Throughout the year it is maintained in excellent shape by Fred Benner and his efficient crew. Occasionally the road passes through a wooded area where limbs on the friendly trees on either side of the road seem to be exerting special effort to meet high up over the middle of the road, creating an interesting view with the deep blue sky for a background. It is conceded that there is no sixteen mile drive in the entire length of the valley that is superior in nature's spread of various interesting features than is contained in the wide open view along this beautiful driveway. This is one of those beautiful mid-summer days with the warm sunshine pouring down to brighten the scenery in this picturesque Allegheny Valley, where wandering through the valley is the Allegheny River, which adds immeasurably to the attractiveness of the valley and lends itself in an admirable way throughout the major portion of the year to the many who seek recreation. Located across the river from Tidioute on an expansive stretch of sunset-acres is the village of River View which is largely a buildup of recent years and is favored with the dream highway passing through its midst.

Now I will take you to the west end of the village from where my story will wind its way for a sixteen mile jaunt up the valley over the winding dream highway to the end of the trail. The beautiful maple shade trees that parallel the highway on either side for a half mile and pass through the entire length of the village provide an unusual and interesting canopy of shade, that add to the attractiveness of the place. These trees were planted 62 years ago last Fall by Mr. Jahn Hunter of Tidioute, a highly respected and topmost enterprising gentleman of those times.

This young and thriving village has twenty seven permanent dwellings, eighteen cottages and ten overnight cabins for the accommodation of the traveling public, two filling stations, Chevrolet sales quarters, a grocery store, a tavern, a substantial consolidated school and all supplied with city water, electricity and gas. With its continuous building program it seems destined to outgrow its village feature.

Within the village a very pretty plot of ground along the highway has been planted with flowers and shrubbery and outlined with evergreen trees. In the center of this attractive place is a substantial five foot slab of native sandstone that has a beautiful display of numerous white silica quartz pebbles, on the face of which is a bronze plaque with the following inscription: "The first flowing oil well in the world was drilled on this land, by Mr. C. L. Requeimbaum, August 13th, 1860. Erected by the Tidioute Lions Club 1941."

This well was drilled with a crude spring pole outfit to the depth of 130 feet and was said to flow 300 barrels of oil a day. A dedication in honor of this event attracted a gathering of about one hundred and fifty people. M. H. Deardorff of Warren delivered an address that was a most fitting tribute for the occasion, followed by a speech by Fred A. Shaw who related interesting events of those early days. Just previous to the bringing in of the oil well a shaft nine feet square and one hundred thirty three feet deep was sunk on this property in search of oil. This was located twenty rods from the location of the well that was later drilled. After excavating three feet into the third sand gas began seeping in. After reporting about the offensive gas to the manager it became necessary to convince him, so one of the drillers walked out on the timber that lay across the shaft and lighted a piece of paper. An explosion occurred that left the man dead at the bottom of the shaft. The project was then abandoned and the shaft later filled in, with little left today to identify the spot of the unfortunate experience.

A fleeting glance across the river presents to view the interesting town of Tidioute which sprawls through the valley for a mile and a half. Before passing by the Tidioute eddy which is fished with better than average results, I will relate an experience my friend, W. L. Yahner had there last year while fishing. While casting with a plug a big one struck and he hooked him, then the tussle began, after considerable careful maneuvering he finally landed him and a big disappointing surprise at the same time, for it was a carp. However this lover of the rod, hook and line does make some good catches of fish each season.

In this same eddy Edeon Car-nahan of Tidioute has been making a record for himself catching large fish. One of the largest he caught this Summer was a ten pound muskellunge.

A roadside rest and picnic park for the convenience of the tourists and the traveling public will probably be located on route 62 a half mile east of the Tidioute river bridge. Here is an ideal location with ample room. A two way drive-in and spring water waiting on the adjoining hill side. This tree lined haven fitted up with eating tables, outside fire place for cooking, spring water and other conveniences is free of high water approach. This will provide a pleasing rest for the traveler and a source of satisfaction to our community. The possibility of such a project maturing, appears most encouraging.

The matter is under way in the hands of our efficient Tidioute Chamber of Commerce directors who are sparing neither effort nor time in their endeavor to have the project completed in the Spring.

Continuing up the valley over the dream highway that passes through a wooded section you arrive at the interesting Rimmer Valley, which is the topic of a previous article I wrote. Here in its unique setting is the old time Baugher farm home. While it still remains in the family it is owned and occupied by the Charles Cross family, with its enchanting home-like appearance, yet so free of that creeping faded eloquence, you occasionally observe in your travels. A few cabins and boats frequent the grounds for the use of those who boat and fish in the waters of nearby Baugher eddy.

In the distance across the river is the fertile fields of the Ward Courson farm a part of which until recent years was a ranch for raising the beautiful silver fox, whose fur, used to be tops for adornment of the ladies' coats and suits. Just a hop, skip and jump from the nice farm home of the Coursons is the neat home with its commanding view of the valley and graced by Judge Bourquemen with his preserving influence. Joining neighbor Devore's pleasant view farm is a mile stretch reaching McGee run that contains sixteen Summer cottages in a continuous cluster that are semi-secluded by a flourishing growth of young pine and hemlock trees.

A half mile further along is Hague run from where 60 years ago water was shipped in barrels by freight. The water was supplied from what was known far and wide as a mineral health water spring and was located a short distance up the ravine. Right here by the road at the mouth of the ravine midst a growth of large old time trees is the stone foundation wall of a large frame dwelling that stood there deserted 45 years ago.

It was known to the community at large as the Haunted House.

Due to the odd and peculiar happenings that occasionally occurred within the house at night, three different families moved out. Hugh Portland's family was the last one to reside there. They left at midnight and removed their household goods the next day. They even imagined they saw a ghost in one of the large rooms. The lonely haunted house was ever after regarded with suspicion and viewed with no little concern particularly by those driving by after dark.

With reference to this particular feature I can speak from personal experience. Even after the old home faded away the stone wall foundation was suspected of retaining revengeful ghost spirits. I wonder if there are not some who believe that ghost spirits still hover in the midnight shade of the staunch old trees that still surround the old home site.

The next mile has seven cottages, one of which is Edward Shanley's newly constructed neat cottage and occupies a pretty site on observation knoll. In the good old days when we had passenger train service four times a day, McGee run was a flag station stop for passengers, and years earlier McGee run valley resounded to the whistle and buzz of a large saw mill operated by Livingston Hunter of Tidioute.

This section is served by a good black top highway that extends for five miles up the Allegheny Valley to Cobham, another old time railroad passenger service flag station. If you wished to board the train at one of these designated flag stations and there was no passenger to leave the train to a stop. After dark a lantern was necessary. Both were provided in a weather proof box. (To Be Continued)

THE STORY OF STALIN (1)

COBBLER BOY

EXPELLED FROM SEMINARY

ARRESTED BY CZARISTS

The people who knew the boy Joseph Vissarionovich Djughashvili in a small town in southern Russia 60 years ago expected him to be a cobbler. His mother hoped he would become a priest. No one, of course, remotely dreamed that he would become Joseph Stalin, ruthless ruler of 190,000,000 in a vast, new Soviet Russia.

He grew up in poverty in the village of Gori, province of Tiflis, Georgia, where he was born Dec. 21, 1879. His father was a cobbler, his mother a serf. Everyone around town knew him as "Sosso," a bright boy who worked hard and had little time for play. Consumed by the desire to understand everything, he read voraciously and loved to talk. "He was always a good boy," his mother said later. "I never had to punish him."

After a few years in school, which he entered at the age of eight, his father apprenticed him to another cobbler. But his mother had greater dreams for him. She argued with his father until he cancelled the apprenticeship arrangement and "Sosso" was enrolled in a theological seminary. He would, vowed his mother, become a Russian Orthodox priest—a great attainment for the son of a serf.

But "Sosso" was a natural rebel. The discipline of the seminary galled him. He joined the revolutionary movement at the age of 15, and by 1897, was secretly leading Marxist circle at the school. Informers exposed him and he was expelled. The czarist regime of the late 1890's had no haven for an ex-student of known radicalism. The czarist secret police began watching and trailing him.

Long afterwards his mother still expressed annoyance at him for being expelled from the seminary. "I know my son rules in the Kremlin," she said, "but if he had not been naughty and turned away from God and been forced to leave his school he might by now be a bishop."

THE STORY OF STALIN (2)

IN EXILE

UNDERGROUND PLOTTING

LENIN AIDE

The young man who was expelled as a divinity student for his radical ideas soon assumed the name by which the world knows him today: Stalin. It means "man of steel." And it took a man of steel to endure the dangers and suffering which he underwent in czarist Russia. A fanatical belief in Marxism drove him on.

In 1900 and 1901 Stalin led mass strikes and demonstrations and had his first experience as an underground worker, always pursued by the Czar's secret police. Caught and deported to eastern Siberia, he escaped and returned to the Transcaucasian district. There he resumed a role of leadership in the Communist Party.

During those tumultuous years Stalin altogether was jailed eight times and exiled to Siberia seven times. He escaped six times, but on his seventh exile, in 1913, he was imprisoned in a closely guarded camp in the Arctic regions. He remained there until the czar's overthrow emptied Siberia of its political exiles in 1917.

Stalin led strikes, wrote pamphlets which were printed on illegal printing presses, delivered speeches to secret meetings, and did everything possible to carry the Bolshevik ideas to the masses. Under his direction the first issue of the newspaper Pravda was prepared in 1912. He was particularly gifted at raising money for the Party by unconventional methods of "expropriation." Once in 1907 he is said to have led a street attack on a bank convoy to obtain money for the Party. Stalin himself never would confirm or deny this.

But the most important event of those years came while he was in a Siberian jail in 1903. A note was smuggled into him. It was from Lenin, Communist party chief and at that time a stranger, encouraging him. He later became an aide to Lenin.

Group Meeting of WSCS Members To Be Held in Clarendon Church on 19th

Clarendon—A group meeting of WSCS members will be held in the Methodist church Thursday, March 19, with the following parties represented: Thoma, Clarendon, Corydon, Kin-a, Warren Epworth, Grace and East, Youngville, Irvine and Garad. Sessions will get under way at 7:00 a. m., and a tureen dinner will be served at noon. In the afternoon, there will be a mission-y speaker and there will be a program of general interest. Purpose of these gatherings is to promote friendship and acquaintance among the various societies of the Jamestown District, and to discuss questions and problems regarding the work of the societies. Several other Methodist groups will hold busy March sessions, including the Philanthian Class and the Win One Class. Philanthian members held their group meeting in the church parlors, with 13 persons in attendance. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Mary Campbell, who took her opening hymn "Ride On, Ride On, in Majesty." Scripture reading and prayer were followed by another hymn, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross." A brief business session included routine reports, after which Mrs. Martha Schneider entertained with an interesting quiz program and games. Lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Martha Schneider and Mrs. Mabel Dykums, at a table with St. Patrick's Day decorations. The next meeting of the group will be held in the church parlors April 7. Fourteen members and guests were present for the Win One meeting, also held in the church parlors. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Lenore Anderson, the opening hymn, "Trust and Obey," followed by an article on the Lenten season, the Lord's Prayer in unison, and the closing hymn, "There's a Wideness in God's Mercy." Routine business followed, when plans were made to purchase flowers for the church for the Easter season, and $12 was netted as a result of a white elephant sale. Mrs. Emma Miller was in charge of the quiz program which followed and refreshments were served by the hostesses. The next meeting will be held in the church parlors Thursday evening, April 2, when members are asked and urged to attend the services in the church preceding the class session.

Methodist Circle Holds Busy Session

The Isabella Thoburn Circle of First Methodist church held its regular meeting in Dunham parlors. In the absence of Miss Ida McKinney, chairman, the session was conducted by Mrs. W. G. Cable. Mrs. George Hunter led the devotional period, closing with prayer. Routine business included minutes of the last meeting; report of the treasurer, showing a balance of $18.83. There was also announcement of unpaid pledges and a plea that they be paid by May 1st. The next meeting of the circle will be held April 9, and members were asked to keep the change in mind. This group was also asked to provide refreshments for the Sunday evening service on March 22. Mrs. Robert Alexander made announcements concerning the cook book which is being sold and Mrs. George Grosch was appointed to take charge of the sales in the circle. Attention was also called to a tureen dinner to be held in Clarendon March 19, when the sub-district meeting convenes, and the speaker will be a returned missionary from Korea. The WSCS will pay the expense of two delegates to the School of Missions to be held at Allegheny College July 19-25. For the program, Mrs. Lina McKenzie reviewed the last two chapters of the study book, "How," reading interesting stories of the mission schools and migrants. Hostesses were Mrs. G. R. Loree, Mrs. Lina McKenzie, Mrs. E. G. McCurdy and Mrs. Theo Bosin.

Chorus personnel is as follows: Mrs. Talbot Aldrich, Mrs. Harold Beach, Mrs. Everett Borg, Mrs. Richard Costley, Mrs. Cleon Douglas, Mrs. Fred Emhardt, Mrs. Ernest Hagenlocher, Mrs. Harold Hampton, Mrs. Herbert Harris, Mrs. Roy Krebs, Mrs. J. B. Leidig, Mrs. Carl Lundahl, Mrs. Russell Meadows, Jr., Mrs. Andrew Nelson, Mrs. Harold Ristau, Mrs. Edward Slick, Mrs. Carl Whipple and Mrs. William Yeager. Hostesses for the tea to follow the program are Mrs. Thomas J. Donnelly, chairman; Mrs. Charles Armstrong, Mrs. Lockwood Towne, Miss Dorothy Newell, Mrs. Victor Offerle, Mrs. C. S. Knapp, Miss Montana O. Knapp, Mrs. Lyle N. Schuler, Mrs. O. W. Clinger and Mrs. James Holmberg.

BAPTIST MOTHERS
Dr. Yu, psychiatrist at Warren State Hospital, will be guest speaker for the March meeting of the First Baptist Mothers Club, to be held at the church at 8:00 p. m. Thursday.

Has Exhibit In Erie

Maritza Leskovar Morgan of the Warren State Hospital staff, is fast becoming widely known throughout this section for her artistic abilities and her very successful one man shows. Her latest exhibit is in Erie where her paintings are being shown at the Public Art Gallery at the regular gallery hours of 2:00 to 5:00 Monday, Friday and Saturday, and 7:00 to 9:00 p. m. Monday. The show will continue through March 30. Born in Zagreb, Yugoslavia, Mrs. Morgan received her early education in Europe, then Canada, completed high school in New York City, and attended Cornell University. She studied natural habitat construction at the American Museum of Natural History in New York and did for the Wilson Museum at Dartmouth College a series of natural habitat displays which are now circulated through public schools as part of a traveling collection. Her interest in oil painting led to enrollment in classes of the Art Students League in New York, and commissions soon followed. A one man show in Chautauque in 1952 brought praises from The Chautauque, comment being made on her taste and imagination in selection of a variety of material, and her intuitive adapting of medium to subject. Her work was found to have warmth, humor, vitality, and to indicate a broad artistic experience. A second such show in 1952, at Jamestown, brought approbation for the brilliancy of her color. Mrs. Morgan is the mother of four children, and, with her duties as wife and homemaker, still finds time to play 'cello in the Warren Civic Orchestra; to direct plays and prepare stage designs for the Warren Players; and is art supervisor in the Conewango township schools. Catherine Burns Playcan, art editor for the Erie Dispatch-Herald, is one of her most enthusiastic show promoters.

Catholic Group Is Busy With Plans

About 50 members of the Catholic Daughters of America, Court 834, enjoyed a fine tureen dinner in the YWCA activities building in conjunction with the regular March meeting. Mrs. Joseph Bunk, Mrs. John Mulhaupt, Mrs. Ralph Notoro and Mrs. Michael Mikian headed the committee for the dinner arrangements. Tables were decorated with mixed bouquets of yellow jonquills, purple iris and red roses. Following dinner, the regular business meeting was conducted by the grand regent, Mrs. F. J. Kotmsair. Mrs. John Shaffer was appointed chairman for world missions and Mrs. Arthur Shine was named to the committee for visiting the sick. The court voted to make Mrs. Lida Barnhart an honorary member of the Catholic Daughters of America. Members were reminded the April meeting is the deadline for returns to The Charities Fund and were advised they may contact Mrs. Marcel Prigent before that time. Mrs. Henry Long won the attendance prize for the evening. The meeting was adjourned by the grand regent until Wednesday, April 1, at which time there will be an election of a nominating committee.

Women of Moose Plan Family Tureen Dinner

All members of Warren Chapter, Women of the Moose, and members of the lodge, with their families, are urged to turn out Wednesday evening for the family tureen dinner to be served at 6:30 o'clock, preceding the regular chapter meeting. Blanche Kelsey, social service chairman, is in charge of arrangements for the affair. Reports of the following chairmen are due and should be in the hands of Senior Regent Maud Eckland prior to the meeting: Child care, ritual, hospital, and membership. All officers, escorts and chairmen are especially urged to attend this meeting, since an important letter from the Jamestown, N. Y., chapter will be read. Also in regard to this letter, members are asked to watch the Times-Mirror for additional announcements. The Mooseheart alumni chairman, Mary Rosequist, and her committee served french fries Saturday evening, when another popular floor show was enjoyed by lodge members and their ladies.

Hartland, New Brunswick, Canada, claims it has the longest covered bridge in the world, with a 1282-foot roofed-over span.

Robert Louis Stevenson is said to have used the Isle of Pines as the locale for "Treasure Island."

Hobby Is Theatricals

George Cunningham, who plays the part of Inspector Goble in the Warren Players' current production, "An Inspector Calls," claims amateur theatricals as his lifelong hobby. Taking time out from rehearsals, George and Florence, who shares his interest and is also playing an interesting role in the March play, did a bit of reminiscing and recalled that George made his first public appearance in 1912, when his high school class presented "The Confederate Spy". George says he still has his script of this old time melodrama. During his high school years, he worked backstage at the theatre in his home town of Ridgway. Handling properties for the popular one-night road shows of that period, he learned many tricks of the show business. Every home talent show found George behind the footlights, also. Even the Army offered a chance to manage a company variety show and work with an old time professional producer. After coming to Warren, he found opportunities to appear in minstrels sponsored by the Knights of Columbus and, when the St. Joseph Players were organized, both George and Florence became active members. They recall they worked in many of the same shows, among them "Broadway Bound", "Moon Over Mulberry Street", and, Florence's favorite, "Another Spring". In 1939, he joined Warren Players and made his first appearance in "Outward Bound". He has been kept so busy since, he says he cannot remember all the shows he has worked in, but the public will recall his excellent acting in "I Like It Here", "Kenny Kissed Me" and many others. Although a member of Warren Players for a long time, this is Florence's first acting role. Those who have seen the rehearsals are delighted with her Mrs. Birling and are more than happy that she has renewed her interest in acting. Others appearing in the forthcoming production are Henry Walker, another favorite, who did such an excellent role in "Harvey"; Dick Blair and Jack Timmins, who have both been active in high school and college productions; Annamaria Towne, who will be remembered as the spirit of the Indian Maid, and Anne Johnson, a promising newcomer. With this well-chosen cast and

Sorority Has Talk By Speech Expert

Frank Johnson, speech correctionist for borough schools, was guest speaker for the regular meeting of Epitaph Epitaph Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, which was held at the home of Mrs. Laurence Green, 414 Water street. He chose "Speech and Personality" as his topic. During the business session, members voted to donate another Hummel bed to the maternity section of Warren General Hospital and the usual $35 toward cancer research. These are in addition to previous contributions to the March of Dimes and the TB Society. The membership chairman, Mrs. Kenneth Christiansen, turned over to the treasury a nice check from International for obtaining several new members. Plans were made to hold a bake sale later in the month, the exact date to be set at the next meeting. The following members were elected to serve as a nominating committee: Mrs. Willard Knapp, Mrs. Ray Caldwell, Mrs. Ira Brown, the Misses Doris Peterson, Margaret Peterson and Helen Norris. Members were reminded by the program chairman, Mrs. Leon Christiansen, to bring material for the occupational therapy department at Warren State Hospital. Concluding, delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses and co-hostesses, Mrs. Knapp and Miss Kathryn Gafner. The next meeting will be held March 11, at the home of Mrs. Earle Myers, with Miss Doris Conklin, home economics representative from Penn State, using as her topic "Table Settings and Decorations".

Oil City Pianist Is Guest For Recital

Guest artist for the regular student recital at Warren Conservatory of Music Saturday evening was Miss Donna Jean Beatty, of Oil City. The young lady has a clean-cut technique, which she grades into beautiful tone coloring, especially in such numbers as the Niemann "Gardens in Spring." She played MacDowell's "Praeludium", Opus 10, with a wealth of fine shading, nuance and musical imagination. The MacDowell "Idyll" was a beautiful example of real musical playing. Judging from the applause, the audience would like to have Miss Beatty come soon again. The usual student portion of the program was featured by a duo, "Gondoliers" by Nivin, played by Peggy Niederlander and Patty Larson. Others heard were Barbara Kofod, Susie Pritchard, Carol Johnson, Lida Namman, Marie Oriole, Janice Decker, Nancy Nicklas, Kay Nicklas, Clarice Munn, Ruthann Hamilton, Thomas Namman, Marysue Lanning and Shirleyanne Johnson.

CAMP COMMITTEE HOLDS MEETING

The Girl Scout camp committee for 1953 held a busy session at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vance Weld, Pleasant township. The committee is made up of husbands and wives since the very nature of the problems and work connected with camp necessitates the cooperation of some of the fathers. Committee members plan to spend a day at camp in the near future, in order to make a thorough survey of conditions and to begin work of putting the camp in order for the summer season. Camp Birdall Edey will be available to all Brownie groups in all eight districts of the Warren-Forrest Council, although the groups may camp in their own district if they prefer to do so. Brownie Day Camp sessions will be run for two weeks; Intermediate and Senior camping will run for four weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymon H. Streich

Wearing white chantilly lace and nylon net and carrying a bouquet of white roses with statice, Mary Jane Shield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shield, 5 Verbeck street, became the bride of Raymon H. Streich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Streich, 3 Center street.

Palms, white glads, mums and snapdragons, with candelabra holding lighted tapers, formed a lovely setting in Emanuel Evangelical and Reformed church, where the vows were taken Saturday, March 7.

The Rev. John Borger read the double ring service at 2:00 p. m., with wedding music by Joan Wertz, organist, and Robert Dietrich, tenor. Organ numbers included "Arioso in A" by Bach, "Cantabile" by Franck, and Guilmant's "Adagio," with Mr. Dietrich singing "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown with fitted

Mrs. Melvin Keller Is Department Chairman

At Monday's final meeting for the year of the Woman's Club Literature Department, Mrs. Melvin Keller was elected chairman for next season. Mrs. Wallace Cowden will be vice chairman and Mrs. S. M. McClure will serve as secretary.

Club members were presented a rare treat, when Mrs. Alexander C. Flick, Jr., recited some of her own poetry, including the lovely sonnet sequence on Life Motif. In her charming manner, she also recited some of the favorite poems by Edna St. Vincent Millay, Sara Readale, Audrey Werk, Shelley, and Rand, proving, indeed, that poetry is a valuable asset to living.

Mrs. William M. Hill gave the public affairs committee report; an article on "Malenkov, Russia's New Boss."

Mrs. Joseph DeFrees was hostess for tea, Miss Anna Grandin and Mrs. Harry Logan presiding over the lovely tea table.

Y-TEENS HAVE RED CROSS BENEFIT DINNER

Over 100 High School Y-Teens enjoyed a tureen dinner at the YWCA activities building, the affair having been planned as a means of raising money for the Red Cross Fund drive.

The girls were requested to bring a tureen in accordance with their birthday month: Jello salads for January; relishes for February, etc.

Sally Tome, president of the group, led in singing the Doxology. The usual Monday night business session and program were canceled because of rehearsals scheduled for the band concert and gym exhibition.

Advisors of the club were invited guests of the Y-Teens as a small expression of gratitude for their time and guidance.

CENTRAL WCTU

Mrs. John Trauffer will be the leader for the meeting of Central WCTU, to be held at 2:00 p. m. Thursday in the First Methodist church. Mrs. Esther Swanson will be hostess, with the following as her committee: Mrs. H. E. Cook, Mrs. F. H. Hetrick and Mrs. George Dyke. Members are reminded to bring old Christmas cards.

MARY L. RADSPINNER PLANS OPEN CHURCH

Mary Lenore Radspinner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Radspinner, 115 Redwood street, will observe open church Saturday, March 14, for her marriage to Richard G. Probst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Probst, Clarendon F. D. 1.

The ceremony will be solemnized at 2:30 p. m. in the First Presbyterian church.

CHARLES CABLE HAS 88TH ANNIVERSARY

Russell - Mr. and Mrs. Claude Perrigo entertained Sunday with a family party which honored the latter's father, George Cable of Warren, who is 88 years old today. Present for the occasion were his sisters, Mrs. Ethel Cable, a guest at the Watson Memorial Home in Warren, and Mrs. Clara Wright, Russell.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Mary Blyler, Mrs. A. S. Carlson and son, Arthur, Williamstown; Mrs. Leslie Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Nelson, Erie; Mrs. Ida Legters, Clymer, N. Y.; Florentine Nelson, Ridgway; Mrs. Grace Korn, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Morrow, Pittsburgh; Mr. and Mrs. George Covert and daughter, Butler; Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Hoffer, Titusville; James Fielding, Columbus, O.

After a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will return March 20, to be at home at 5 Verbeck street. The bride traveled in a navy blue dress, gold coat, navy accessories and a white orchid.

Mrs. Streich, graduate of Warren High in 1948 and of Warren Business School, is employed by the Warren County Insurance Agency; her husband, WHS alumnus in '47, and from Edinboro State Teachers College in '53.

Parties for the bride-elect were given by Mrs. Herman Ryberg; the Eastern Star choir, with Harriet Lind as hostess; Mrs. Perry Weidmaier; Mrs. Donald Weaver and Mrs. A. J. McDonald; Mrs. Kenneth Christiansen; church choir members. The rehearsal dinner was given by the bridegroom's parents.

College Club Speaker

Mrs. Roger G. Chagnon, Driftwood, N. Y., pictured here in an Indian sari, will be guest speaker at the Wednesday evening meeting of Warren College Club, being entertained at the home of Mrs. S. W. Blackman, West Fifth avenue.

The sari and native jewelry are some of the many gifts Mrs. Chagnon has received from some of the 57 foreign students who have visited in her home in the past five years. Together with her husband, Mrs. Chagnon has made a hobby of bringing foreign students, studying in American colleges, into American homes for brief visits of three days to two weeks. Over 300 students have been placed so far in the Jamestown area.

College Club members will learn just how this program operates at their Wednesday meeting, when Mrs. Chagnon talks of her experiences in promoting "international understanding."

PTA PROGRAM CHANGE

A charge has been made in program plans for the Washington, Lincoln PTA meeting, to be held in the Tiona school at 8:00 p. m. Wednesday, and all are urged to be on hand to see colored slides of Sweden, taken and shown by G. M. Borg of Warren.

HOSTESS AT SHOWER

Mrs. Carl Danielson entertained a group of relatives and friends at her home, 4 Jefferson avenue, for a shower which honored Miss Mary Widdick, of Freeland, Pa., soon to become the bride of Charles Danielson, Philadelphia, nephew of the hostess.

A pleasant social evening included the compiling of a scrap book for Miss Widdick, after which she opened the many beautiful gifts she will enjoy in her new home. Mrs. Danielson served a delicious lunch and guests showered the honored one with best wishes for much happiness in her new home.

Miss Mary Alice Tingwall, Beech street, spent Sunday in Erie and attended the capping exercises at St. Vincent's Hospital.

GIVE!

The Red Cross helps reduce death on the highway by giving first aid training to volunteers who man over 2,100 highway first aid stations and more than 13,000 mobile first aid units and first aid stations at fairs and other public gatherings. Last year volunteers in such units gave emergency care to 66,000 accident victims. Your contribution to the Red Cross helps support this lifesaving program. Give generously to your 1953 Red Cross fund campaign.

DINNER-MEETING AT NORTH WARREN

Members of the North Warren Presbyterian Missionary Society are reminded of the tureen dinner and mitebox opening meeting to be held in the basement of the church at 6:00 p. m. Thursday. All attending are asked to bring miteboxes and a tureen.

Three missionary movies will be shown for the program: "Day-break," a church world service film showing the role of the church among the refugees of Europe; "Children of Africa" showing children at work and at play; "Under the Northern Lights," showing how the aim of the Sheldon Jackson Junior College is being accomplished. Devotions for the meeting will be in charge of the pastor, the Rev. Robert C. Knapp.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN WILL MEET THURSDAY

The regular meeting of the Warren County Council of Republican Women will be held Thursday evening at eight o'clock in the small court room of the court house. The program will be in charge of the committee on Health and Welfare during which Miss Claire Elliott, of the Children's Aid Society, will speak. Refreshments will be served and a large attendance is urged.

PTA COUNCIL

Community PTA Council, holding its regular meeting at the high school last evening, heard a fine talk on evaluation by Principal Floyd Bathurst and considered in detail some of the plans for the conference to be held here in May. A detailed account of the session will be published tomorrow.

HERALDS AND MOTHERS

All members and friends are invited to attend the monthly meeting of the Little Heralds and Mothers Circle of First Evangelical United Brethren church, to be held in the primary room at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday. Mrs. Charles Johnson and Mrs. Harold Farrell will be the hostesses.

PLEASANT GRANGE

The March meeting of Pleasant Grange will be held in the Grange hall at 8:00 p. m. Wednesday and a large turnout is hoped for.

HE has taken her out for the first time and she hopes there will be other dates. So she wants him to know that she had a wonderful time. Then what does she say when she tells him goodbye? Does she thank him for taking her out? No. It's his place to thank her for going.

She tells him that she had a wonderful time—but doesn't voice the hope that he will call her again. If she puts enough enthusiasm into saying how much she enjoyed the evening, he will want to take her out again.

And it will be all his own idea—which is the way a man wants it to be.

STALIN BUILDS MILITARY RING AROUND U.S.S.R.—Above Newsmap spots location of some of the more important military bases in eastern Europe from which an assault against the free world could be launched. The biggest Red build-up has been at Saseo, in the Adriatic Sea, where the Communists have a huge submarine fleet, and have constructed platforms for guided missiles. To meet this thrust the western powers have constructed bases around the Soviet periphery, and are attempting to weld their military into a unified force capable of repulsing any Soviet aggression.

ed to audit the books of the Warren Board, advised that unless extra time is involved there will be no additional charge for setting up books for the Jointure.

The First National Bank of Warren was selected as depository. Rental payments to the Authority will be started by Warren Borough and Conewago township school districts in July, the other districts to make their first payments in September.

The Textbooks and Supplies committee reported that it had gone over bids for supplies and had let orders in the amount of $5,277.37, this to be paid by Warren Borough and the Jointure to be billed for that portion it uses. County Supt. H. L. Blair reported that Eugene Crudifer of the Pennsylvania State Department of Public Instruction, will be here this or next week to meet with the county groups and discuss consolidation plans.

The Buildings and Grounds committee reported receipt of the architect's plans for the new addition to Beatty Junior High school, and that arrangements have been made for C. W. Barwis to survey the lot.

The Schools committee recommended that Principal Floyd Bathurst be permitted to arrange for the installation of a chapter of the National Honor Society here, and this was approved.

Approval also was given the following matters:

Sabbatical leave, 1953-54, for Leonard Nason of the Beatty faculty;

Miss Marcia Johnson's request that her leave of absence be cancelled;

Exchange teaching in Australia,

1953-54, by Miss Edna Glasser, and acknowledgement of her approval by the State Department;

Payment of $127.26 in expenses incurred in starting the Municipal Authority for Beatty school addition;

Change of the County Institute date from Sept. 28 to Sept. 18, and the schedule thereafter.

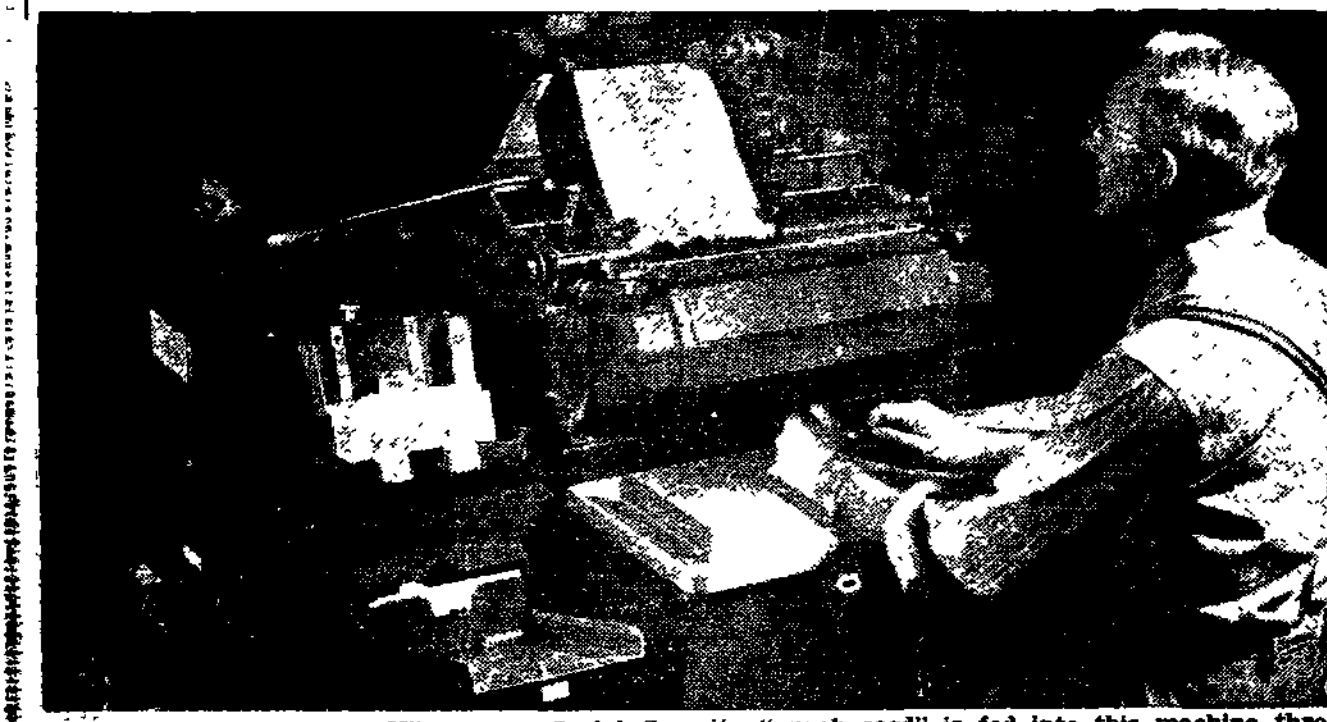

REPORT CARDS OUT

The six-weeks' news, good and bad, goes home to parents for their signatures today in the form of report cards for the period just ending in borough schools. Cards were given to pupils yesterday for collection of marks in the various classrooms.

Three thousand pounds of pepper were part of the ransom of Rome when besieged by Alaric in 408.

The Dutch once ruled Formosa, being driven out in 1662.

Social Security Can Pick Your Card Out Of 106 Million in About Three Minutes

IT COMES OUT HERE: When your Social Security "punch card" is fed into this machine through the stack at left, information on it is automatically transferred to the "flexoline" strip unrolling at center. Strip then becomes one of 106 million used for master index system.

Baltimore — (NEA) — It takes two-and-one-half minutes to find your name among 106,000,000 others in the "flexoline" index of social security card holders.

You get a code number, and then it takes about three minutes to go to the master file to produce a couple of punch cards with your name and your employer's name at the top.

You walk a few feet and hand these cards to a young lady who operates a big machine. She drops them into a slot, the machine whirs, and in a split second she hands you a long, narrow slip of paper with some figures on it.

The last figure on the right tells you—in this case me—that since I began working in 1940 $30,614.93 of my earnings have been taxed for social security purposes.

For that bit of accounting I take my hat off to Uncle Sam. It's more than my jumbled set of books could ever produce. Milton Johnson, the official showing me around, then offered to produce a detailed record of my employment history. I took him up on the offer.

It required another three minutes to pull a spool of microfilm out of a file and less time than that to put it into a projection machine, which then spread before me the record of every job I'd had since leaving college.

The enlarged film, to my amazement, recalled the afternoon in 1942 which I had spent digging ditches for a construction company down in Texas. That job, incidentally, had added exactly one penny of tax to my account.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

This gigantic social security file is maintained by the Division of Accounting Operations of the Bureau of Old-age and Survivors Insurance in a dusty old warehouse across the street from the Baltimore wharves.

It takes 4700 employees, 290,107 square feet of floor space, 820 IBM machines and 22,233 file cabinets to do the job. The cost figures out to be 14 cents a year per account.

Primarily the file is maintained for the payment of social security claims. But it has other purposes including the supplying of a statement of wages, such as mine, to anyone requesting it. You can ask for only one per year. The bureau averages 3000 requests per day for this information. The request must be made on a form post card which asks for a name, address, social security number and date of birth.

An individual account can be located with just the name and date of birth, however.

Johnson explained that the only figure they are interested in is the amount of total wages from which a social security deduction has been made. Before 1950 a deduction was made from wages up to $3000 per year. Since then it has been upped to $3600. They don't record any earnings above that figure.

He figured that out of the $34,614.93 of my taxed wages which they had recorded, I had actually paid into the social security fund $397.15. The total fund is now $18,000,000,000.

Then he made a kind of morbid but interesting calculation. He figured that if I should die tomorrow, if my wife did not remarry and had a normal life span and if my three children all lived past the age of 18, my wife could end up collecting a total of $33,972.00 from Uncle Sam over the years.

That for the payment of only $397.15!

However, Johnson also pointed out how I could come out on the short end of my account.

If my wife died before I did, if my children all grew up to be financially independent and if I then died about age 85 I could have put about $1500 cash into the fund. But the only benefit paid on my account all that time would be $225. That sum would be available to help pay for burial expenses.

How much any one wage earner gets back from his social security taxes depends on a lot of different factors. The major consideration is the average wage he has earned.

Dependents of deceased wage earners are eligible for a survivors insurance. And workers who reach the age of 65 are eligible for old-age benefits. These payments could also vary according to the number of dependents a wage earner might have when he retires.

borough, county and school district could not engage professional assessors at some date to make a re-assessment of the borough. Solicitor S. Knox Harper replied that if all taxing bodies were agreed on it such a step could be taken in a future year.

Vice-chairman Nick Merenick, of the Public Service committee, presented ordinances for sewer assessments on lower Market street. Glade avenue, New street, Hill street and Quaker Hill road which were approved.

Councilmen Brackett Ayers, chairman of the Public Service committee, reported that his committee had contacted the Pennsylvania Electric Company relative to the power lines objected to by Averill street residents. He said that the utility was trying to work out a satisfactory arrangement and had assured him that nothing further would be done until its present plan was thoroughly explored. Mr. Ayers said a meeting of the utility, the Public Service committee and representatives from the Averill street section would be held if necessary.

That "Warren's Finest" are good wall cleaners as well as good officers was revealed by Chairman Paul Yaggee, of the Buildings and Lands Committee, when he reported that the police department walls and ceilings had been washed by some of the policemen. He asked authorization to paint the police station which was not decorated when the rest of the building's first floor received a face-lifting last year. Permission was granted.

The ordinance to vacate part of River street passed one reading, and the committee was instructed to have appraisal made of a borough lot on Nesmith street with a view to selling it to an adjacent property owner. A request to sell another lot in that section resulted in the information that the land sought after was not borough property.

Parks and Playgrounds Chairman Nick Merenick reported the return of Superintendent G. H. Reier from a three-day school where he received much valuable information pertaining to borough park problems.

Councilman Manley Overturf pointed out that the lettering on Warren's street corner signs is almost obliterated. Borough Manager C. W. Barwis advised that the concrete signs will be re-lettered in the Spring and said that whenever one of the signs is damaged or destroyed, it will be replaced with a metal marker in line with a long-range plan for this change.

Councilman John Carbon, of the Fourth ward, brought up the condition of certain switches on Fourth avenue. Manager Barwis stated that the railroad had been informed of the condition and that the industries which had sidings would do their share whenever the railroad was ready to proceed. He said this would be followed closely.

A siding lease, granted to Wetmore Lumber Co. 30 years ago, was up for renewal by its successor, The Oneida Lumber and Supply Co., and Council renewed the lease for another 30-year period. Also approved was the bond of the Manufacturer's Light & Heat Co.

Two Explorer Scouts of Post No. 2, James Wright and Thomas Cooper, were interested observers and received a welcome from the president.

Councilmen present were Rice, Kopf, Ayers, Africa, Patchen, Carbon, Fasquerette, Laskaris, Geracimos, Yagge, Overturf, Levine, Painter and Merenick, also Manager Barwis, Solicitor Harper, Police Chief Evan, Fire Captain Tridico and Parks Superintendent Reier.

All Rent Restrictions In County Are Lifted

Frank S. Anderson of Erie, area rent director for the Office of Rent Stabilization, told The Times-Mirror today that the recent removal of rent control in Youngs-ville marks the decontrol of all rent restrictions in Warren county.

Youngs-ville Borough Council has asked the agency to decide whether it considered a continuance of rent control was necessary, and when it was determined that it was not, the de-control order became effective March 7.

Youngs-ville was the only area in Warren county where controls were still in effect.

SCHOOL NEWS!

By Warren High News Writing Class

The business men's advisory committee for the course in distributive education in Warren High School met last week with Carl E. Whipple, Gerald M. Newton, Floyd W. Bathurst, and Warren E. Miller, instructor of the course, in order to discuss what they consider the essential knowledge and traits for students in the course while the students are working in the local stores.

Among the requisitions the committee stressed were dependability, personality, character, and skills pertaining to salesmanship.

The distributive education course is designed for students who attend school in the mornings and work in local business places during the afternoons. There are about 30 in the course this year.

Mention was also made at the meeting of the double value of the course, that it helps the local merchants and that it helps the students in that they are learning good buying practices.

Members of the advisory committee cooperating with the school are Stewart Beckley, Nat Drake, J. Russell Hanson, S. M. McClure, Nevin Wolfe and Frank Wood.

According to George Washington, Thomas Paine's "The Crisis" helped to win the Revolutionary War.

March 17th A-Bomb Test To Determine Many Questions

Las Vegas, Nev. (P) — What could happen to your home in an atomic attack may be determined in the first of the spring series of tests starting March 17, the AEC said today.

The blast will come before dawn on the big proving ground 50 miles northwest of here, and will also find Army and Marine troops dug in for studies of its effect on personnel.

A lot of questions were not answered by the Atomic Energy Commission's announcement — the exact hour of the blast, which may be televised nationally; the number of troops involved and how close they will be; and the nature of the explosion, whether a bomb dropped from a plane, fired from a tower, or shot from a weapon.

The inaugural of the 1953 program, the third year that the AEC has used the Nevada desert for its continental testing and the second using U. S. troops, has been set up primarily for the federal Civil Defense Administration.

Other things to be observed — such as cars, clothing and animals — have not been specified, but the way in which a residence survives will form one of the most important features.

Civil defense has built two typical frame houses in cooperation with the American Institute of Architects. They will be located at different distances from ground zero — the point directly under the bomb's blast.

One, about a half mile away, is expected to be blown apart, scattering heavy debris. The other, about a mile and a half from the center, may suffer some fire damage but should stand, the AEC indicated, although admitting that

Study Group Finds Numerous Incidents Of Discrimination

Harrisburg (P) — A special study group set up by Gov. John S. Fine said last week two out of three employers in Pennsylvania discriminate against hiring skilled workers from among minority groups.

"Most of the discrimination is against Negroes, although there is 'significant evidence' of discrimination against Jews and other religious and nationality groups," said the unit.

The report from the governor's Industrial Race Relations Commission brought a statement from Fine himself that discrimination in employment is "practiced" in some degree throughout the commonwealth.

Fine again urged the Legislature to pass legislation to outlaw discrimination in employment or union membership because of race, creed, color or national origin.

The 14-member commission said it surveyed the operations of 1,229 companies in all branches of industry in making its study. The firms employ nearly a million workers.

"Only one-tenth of all firms covered in the survey are totally free of discriminatory employment practices," the commission reported. "The other 90 per cent are 'unfair' toward at least one minority group in hiring, promoting or restricting apprenticeship opportunities."

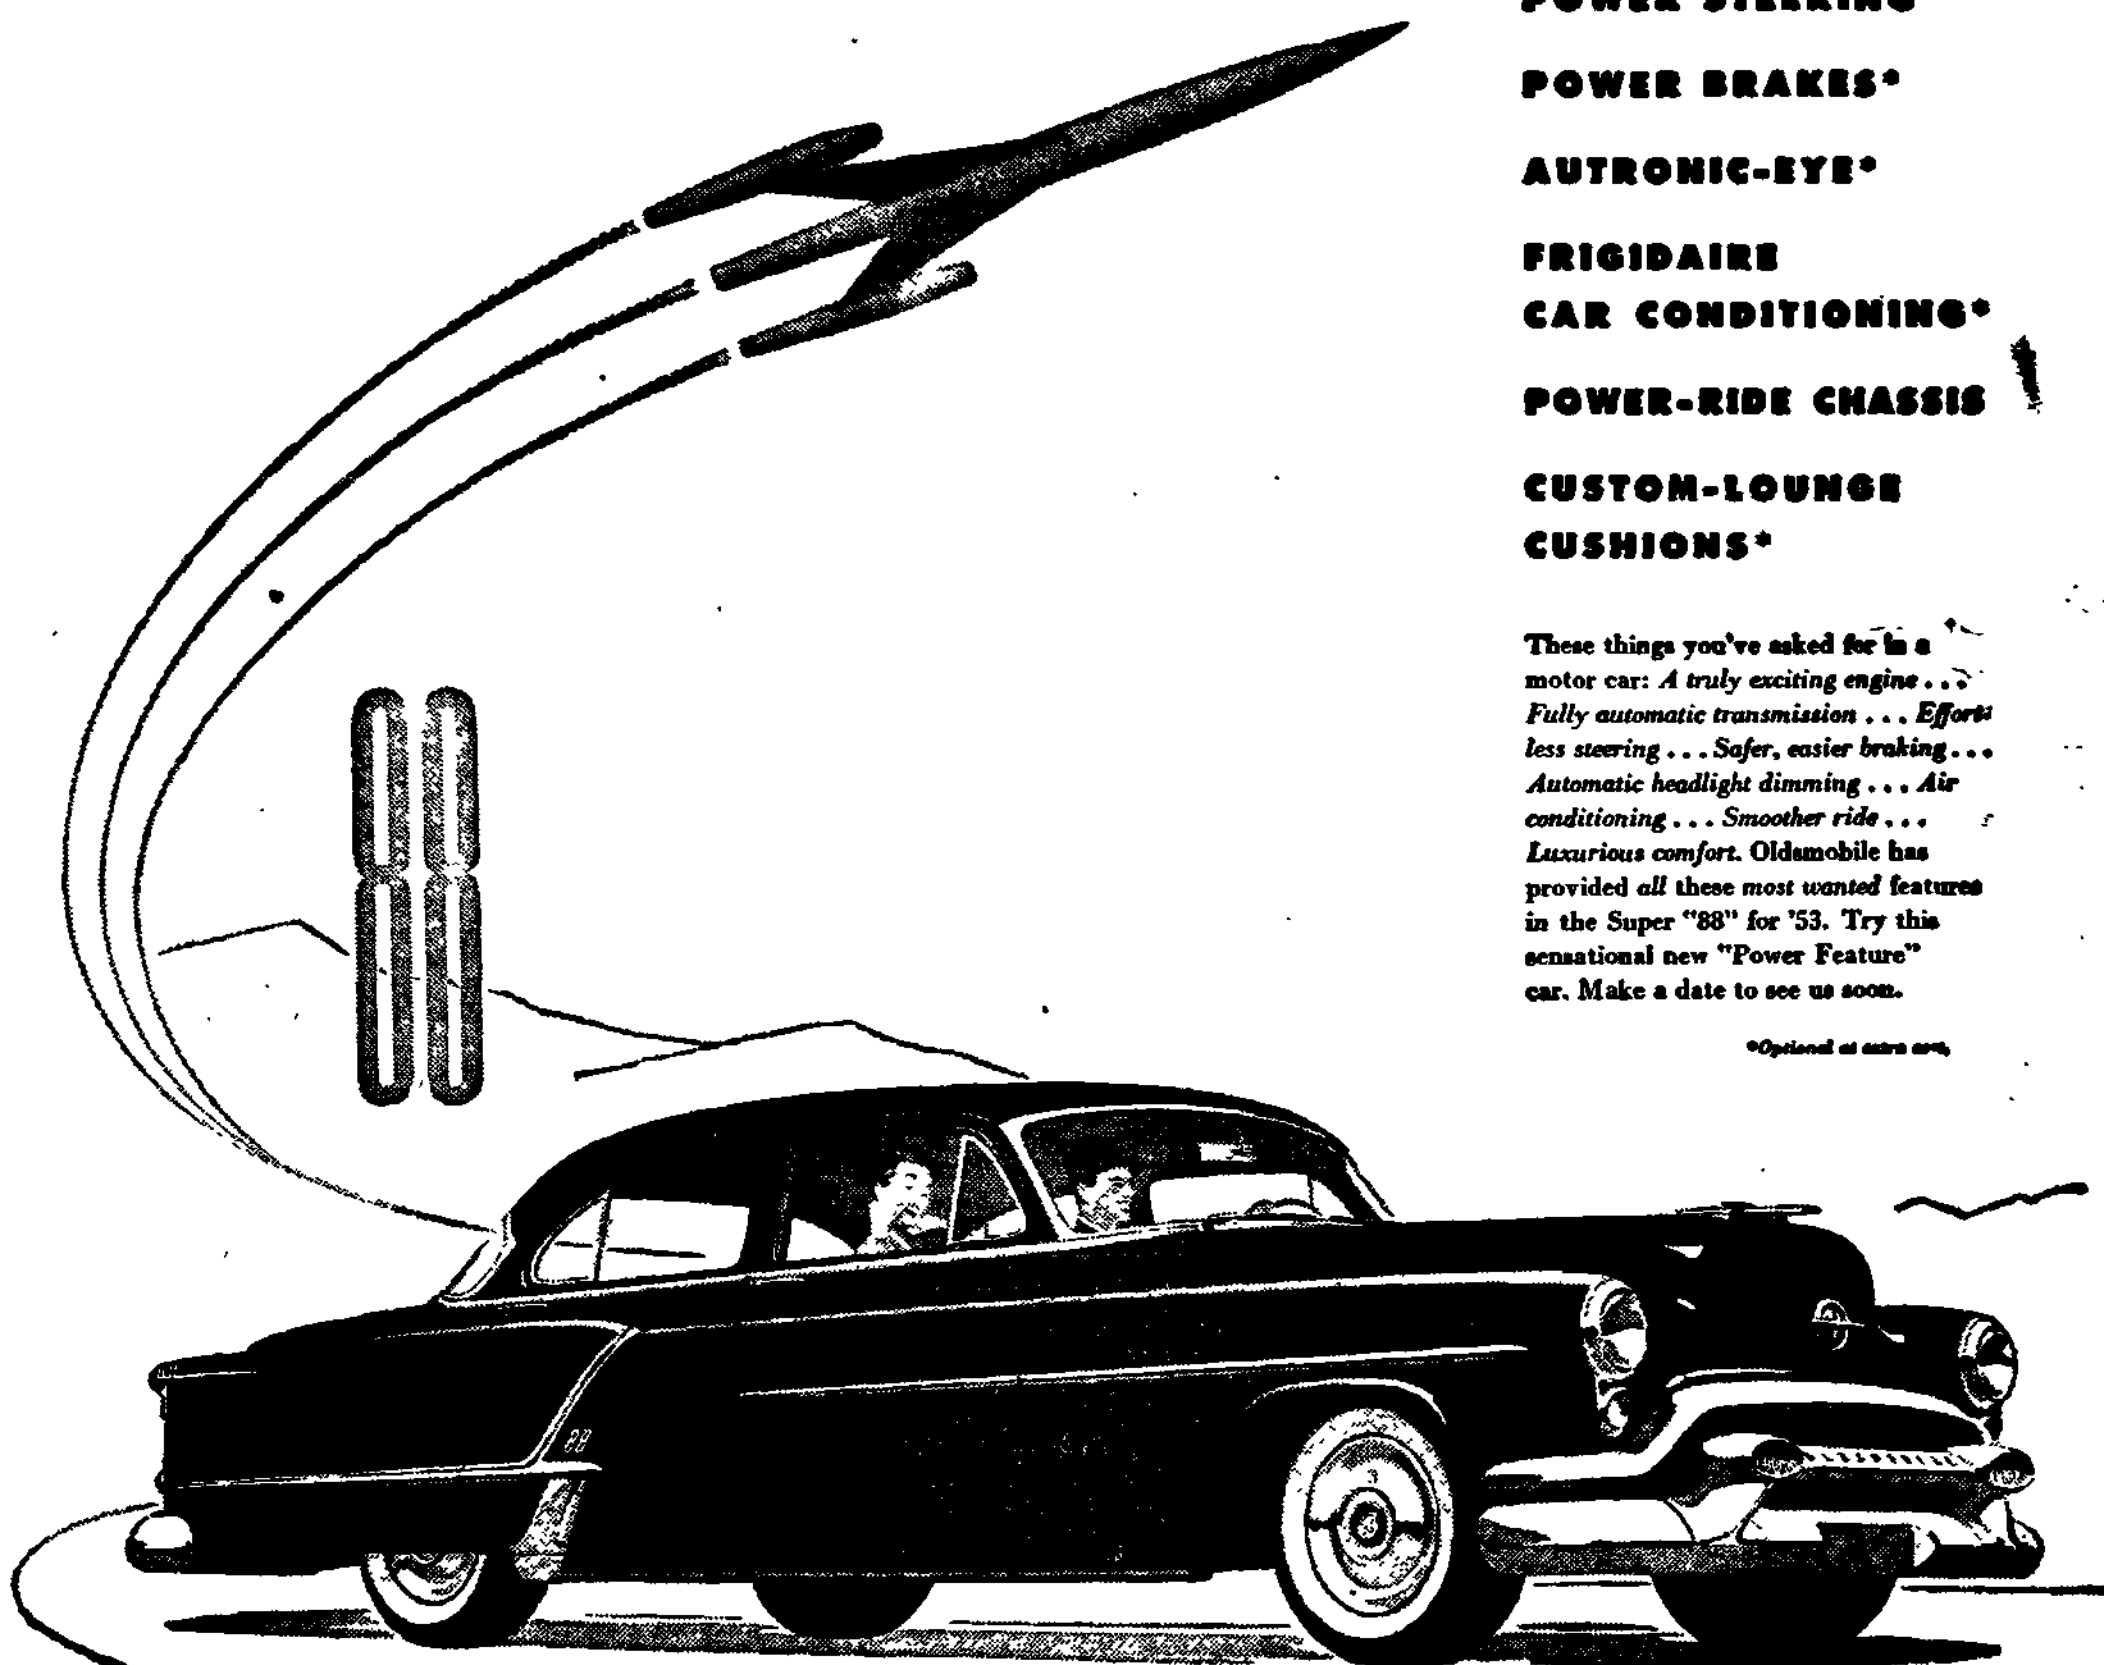

Statewide job discrimination, added, is least among unskilled workers. The commission explained discrimination goes "proportionally higher" as jobs pass through semi-skilled and skilled classifications to supervisory, office, engineering and sales categories.

Years ago a citizen of the Netherlands who could not maintain his section of the dikes, was required to give up his farm to one who could.

experts can't be sure precisely what will happen.

The nuclear device to be used will release energy equal to about 15,000 tons of TNT — a figure which the AEC said is "somewhat lower than the 20,000-ton release of a nominal bomb similar to those used at Hiroshima and Nagasaki."

Youngsville Eagles Lose To Mercer But Win High Praise From Basketball Coach Kamus

Playing in the District 10, Class B semi-finals at Oil City last night the Youngsville High Eagles were unable to keep up with the fast second-half pace and lost to a classy Mercer High quintet, 70 to 58.

The Mercer-Venango champs will now meet Lawrence Park on Thursday night to battle for the District championship.

"I'm proud of the boys they played a nice game were the words of Youngsville Coach Frank Kamus, who also expressed his admiration of Mercer's fine ball club.

The Upper Allegheny Valley Class B titleholders had some bad luck from the black stripe which could have made the tilt closer.

In the first half the Eagles only connected with three in 15 free throw tries and only made 12 out of 31 in the entire game.

It was a tight ball game all through the first two stanzas Mercer leading only 28-26 at the intermission. Then the winners forged ahead 44-37 in the third canto and finished up with a high scoring fourth period, 26-21.

McElrath walked off with top honors for the night, dropping in 10 fielders and six free throws for a 26-point total. Dallas Haight was top pointmaker for Youngsville with 17 points, while Stub Meabon popped 14 markers.

CERTIFIED IS WINNER OVER YOUNGVILLE

In a scramble for the YMCA-City basketball loop second-half lead on the 'Y' court last night Wills Cleaners failed to hang onto an 11-point first quarter lead and were forced into an overtime period to defeat Warren Business School, 61 to 58. The opening game saw Youngsville Wiggins suffering their fourteenth straight setback, as Certified stole a close, 50 to 48 decision.

The feature attraction was knotted up with 30 seconds of the regulation time remaining, when Ray Ritchie one of the league's old standbys, swished a long set shot from over three-quarters' distance of the court to make it 51-51. Then Ricky Scalise a sub, paced Wills in the extra three-minute period to outscore the Schoolboys, 10-7.

The fracas had plenty of whistle blowing which resulted in the removal of three players via the foul route. Wills' Tom Juliano left the game mid-way in the fourth canto and two minutes later Carmen Colosimo also departed. The Schoolboys lost Hud Berdine during the overtime.

It was Wills' seventh win this half and lengthened their overall string of wins to 10 while the Business School had an eight-game streak broken.

Wills started off in what looked like a run-away, leading by an 18-7 spread after the first eight minutes. But the determined Schoolboys, led by Hud Berdine and Don Prescario, gradually edged their way back into the game by outscoring the Cleaners in the next three frames. By half-time the margin was cut five points to 28-22 and five marks of the remaining deficit were taken off in the final stanza.

A foul and hook shot by Bob Simpson put the winners ahead 46-39, half way through the fourth chapter but Prescario drove in for two twin-counters to shave the spread to three-points. Simpson came back with a one-hander. Ritchie matched it with a set shot and Berdine tallied two foul shots to make it 48-47. A free throw by Buzz Crocker gave Wills a two-point edge again but a long set by Ritchie with one minute to go tied the game for the first time. Here Simpson got his two foul shots and Ritchie followed up with his sensational shot to cause the extra period.

Towering Simpson hit first in the extra period, Prescario matched it with a push shot from the key, and Scalise and Bill Weidert exchanged buckets to make the score 53-55 with one minute gone. Scalise followed with two free throws and again Weidert knotted the count at the mid-way mark. Then the cincher came when Scalise made his first of two charity throws and Bob Reese got the tip-in to make it 60-57. After that Simpson missed two more chances from the black stripe and Bill Massa and Prescario each scored foul shots.

Bob Reese and Bob Simpson paced the winners with 15 points apiece, but individual honors went to Hud Berdine and Don Prescario of the Business School, with 20 and 17 markers respectively.

In the first game Certified came from behind a 28-19 deficit to edge out the out-of-towners by two points. In the third canto Certified picked up four points and then outscored Youngsville, 16-9 for the necessary difference in the final period.

Chuck Irvine Larry Anderson and Jim Sigworth tallied 15, 13 and 12 respectively to pace Certified. For Youngsville, Marsh, a Sugar Grove product, shared honors with Irvine and Jack Haight hit for 13 points.

Y-Bar-U Will Enter Pleasant Township Spring Horse Show

Plans for participation in a spring horse show, to be sponsored by the Pleasant Township Volunteer Fire Department, were the principal topic of business taken up at the March meeting of Y-Bar-U Saddle Club members.

Meeting in the Russell fire hall with President Charlie Carlson in charge, discussion centered on the show plans. The affair to be held Sunday, May 24, or, in case of rain on that day, on May 31.

Members were reminded of their own next meeting, April 2, and, to conclude the evening, refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Adam Beltz, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reynolds.

Bob Benson Second In Unlimited Class

Bob Benson, ex-Warren High grappler, placed second in the unlimited weight class for Lock Haven State Teachers during the annual State Teachers' College wrestling tournament held at his school last weekend.

During the Friday night eliminations Benson pinned Stauffer of Millersville, in 1:43 of the first round for the tourney's fastest fall. He was beaten in the Saturday events to place second.

The son of Mrs. M. Benson of Pennsylvania avenue west, Bob is in his first year of college wrestling.

Eagles Will Play Faculty on Monday

Frank Kamus, athletic director and coach of Youngsville High announced the varsity basketball team will play the high school faculty at 8:30 Monday night. A premium will feature the sixth and seventh graders.

HIGH AVERAGE
Don Prescario, a New Castle product, has an average of better than 19 points in the three games he has played with Warren Business School in the Y-City cage loop.

At the time of its first census in 1820 there were 127,901 people in Alabama.

Corry Paper Says Columbus Dam Will Be Reconstructed

Corry Journal: After six years of little in the way of definite progress toward reconstruction of the Columbus Dam which was wiped out in an April flood in 1947, there was concrete evidence that the dam will be rebuilt this summer.

Carleton Curtis, president of the Columbus Municipal Authority which was formed to bring about rebuilding of the structure, made this disclosure after conferring with officials of the state attorney general's office and the Department of Forests and Waters.

For some time the project has been held up over a dispute over legal technicalities involving deeds held by property owners who were asked to waive water rights. However, Ray Miller, attached to the attorney general's office, expressed the opinion in a conference with Mr. Curtis that this stumbling block can be cleared up in the near future.

The $20,000 which it is estimated it will take to rebuild the spillway of the dam was made available by the Fish Commission last year which has been awaiting only the go-ahead signal from the legal department.

In view of the fact that the attorney general's office has stated this problem will be settled, Columbus residents as well as others throughout the section who enjoyed the fishing, swimming and boating privileges at the dam are hopeful of an early start on the project as soon as the weather clears this spring.

Included in the plans is a provision for a small bathing beach for the use of the general public.

Although Casablanca in North Africa was a fishing village on a pestilential swamp 40 years ago, establishment of a man-made harbor and other improvements has made it a large, modern city.

New Charter for Warren's Marine Corps League

—Timesphoto by Saylor
COMMANDANT ROBERT HARRISON, center, receives from Division Commandant Robert E. Allaman the new charter for the General Joseph H. Pendleton Detachment of the Marine Corps League, as Mrs. Helen Pendleton Rockwell of Warren, daughter of the late Marine general, smiles her approval.

Members of the Marine Corps League of Warren, who decided some months ago to change the name of the local unit to the General Joseph H. Pendleton Detachment, were presented with their new charter at a banquet in the Cedar Room of the Blue and White restaurant, Monday night, with the Marine wives as guests.

Mrs. Helen Pendleton Rockwell of Warren, daughter of the late Marine general, was present for the ceremony and expressed herself as deeply impressed that the local Marines should honor her father in this manner.

Marine Robert Allaman of Erie, Division Commandant, made the presentation and also installed the following officers: Robert Harrison, Commandant; August Juhano, Jr., Senior vice commandant; Tony Vogler, Junior vice commandant and chaplain; Robert C. Gorsuch, adjutant and paymaster; Bernard L. Winegardner, judge advocate.

Mr. Harrison spoke in behalf of the Detachment in welcoming Mrs. Rockwell, Mr. Allaman and Mrs. Sisto L. Salvaggio, also of Erie, and introduced Rell Hoskins, city editor of The Times-Mirror, as the guest of honor. Mr. Hoskins was presented with an honorary membership in the Marine Corps League and, on behalf of the Detachment, with an engraved desk set and a framed masterpiece, drawn by Harrison, of a Times-Mirror office scene, using an improvised front page background caricatured in lighter vein.

A social time was enjoyed by the Marines and their wives after the dinner and many compliments were paid Bob Dietch, as chairman, for the perfect arrangements and the grand turkey dinner.

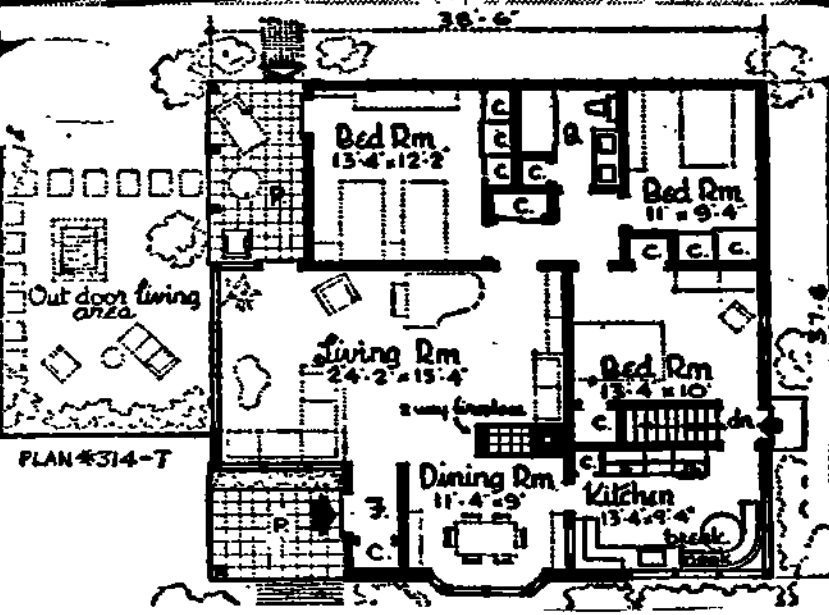

Legion Post Members Enjoy Spaghetti Dinner

Newman announced that the membership of the local post had reached the 542 mark and that strenuous efforts were being made to add 58 more members between now and the 17th—just a week away. It is hoped that the 600 mark will be reached by the time the local post observes its birthday on March 17th. The occasion will be a turn dinner to be held by the Legion and its auxiliary, at the Legion Home, on the night of the 17th.

In connection with the large class of new members joining last night Commander Barr called to the attention of the entire membership the dates of military service which make a person eligible

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

AP Newsfeatures

CLEVER DESIGNING packs this small house with luxury features. A two-way fireplace is open to both living room and dining room. A covered garden porch, opens from both living room and master bedroom. A high fence screens an outdoor living area. Eleven closets, front and rear vestibules, children's rooms adjacent to the kitchen and double lavatories in the bathroom are among other outstanding details. This is Plan 314-T by Edward R. Tyler, 586 Macon Place, Uniondale, N. Y. The house covers 1,266 square feet and has a basement.

2-Way Hydraulic Control with the MASSEY-HARRIS 2-Plow 22 and Depth-o-matic System

Depth-o-matic 2-Way Hydraulic System gives you depth control of both mounted and pull-behind tools anywhere in your field. It's accurate, positive... completely safe. Depth-o-matic is but one of many better farming advantages you have with the 22. Others like 23.91 maximum drawbar horsepower; full-width operator platform; clear unobstructed vision; big 10-34 tires; the weight and power to handle both mounted and pull-behind tools mean the 22 does more work faster, easier, at less cost. And remember, the 22 is the lowest-priced tractor per drawbar horsepower in the 2-plow field. Stop in for complete details... see us today. Be one of the first on our demonstration schedule.

Sold Flowing from U. S. To Other Nations at the Rate of $50,000,000 Worth a Week

New York (AP)—The flow of American dollars abroad—both in aid and now exceeds the amounts foreigners need to pay for goods and services bought here. Other nations have added nearly $50,000,000 to their gold and dollar reserves in the last eleven months. They were swelling their store of dollars until the middle of December.

Will to Require Tractor Licensing Offered in Senate

Harrisburg (AP)—A bill to require licensing of tractors and other agricultural machines has been introduced in the Senate. Under the measure sponsored by Sen. Frank W. Ruth (D-Berks) a fee of two dollars would be charged for the issuance of the license. Application for a license would be made through the State Revenue Department which would issue a title for any self-propelled farm machinery. The measure went to the State Highway Committee. Other new Senate bills would: Permit the transfer of money from the public school employees retirement fund to the state employees retirement fund of any person transferring from the Department of Public Instruction to another state job—Sen. James S. Snyder (R-Potter). Give credit for experience in engineering and surveying in the Korean War to veterans seeking state pension—Sen. William J. Lane (D-Washington). Permit co-operative associations to continue or perpetuate their terms of existence if they have not expired more than five years—Sen. Lane.

You Can't Go Wrong by Sowing Seeds in a Flat

Flats come "knock-down" and are put together with a few nails. Among numerous meanings which the word "flat" has acquired, ranging from an apartment to a piece of stage scenery, it signifies to the gardener a shallow box in which seed is sown, usually for growing in the house, in a cold-frame or hot-bed. This simple device has been used for more than a century without anyone being able to improve it. The modern form comes knock-down and is easily put together with a few nails. It is a standard item in the garden trade. Anyone planning to start seed in a seed-box cannot go wrong if he uses a standard "flat." It is a serious mistake to use substitutes which are too small, too fragile, or otherwise unfitted for the job of holding enough moist soil to nourish a vigorously growing plant from the time the seed is sown until it is safe to transplant in the garden. A flat should be large enough for the plants, and not too large or heavy for the planter to handle. Standard sizes range from 18x24 inches, 2 inches deep, to 15x24 inches, 3 1/2 inches deep. The important dimension is depth, two inches being the minimum required to allow unchecked development of the roots of a seedling plant. When spaced, as usually practiced, two inches apart each way, each plant has eight cubic inches of soil in which to grow. Knock-down flats are made of half-inch cypress or pine, both resistant to dampness. Between the boards on the bottom, narrow cracks are left to allow excess water to drain away. When filled with soil, a flat provides a seedbed adequate for the plants, yet easily moved around indoors and out to locations which provide favorable conditions for growth. They are easily placed on a table or bench to eliminate bending over when sowing seed, thinning out or transplanting seedlings to pots or other flats. They can be moved from sunshine to shade outdoors and kept in a place convenient for watering. When it is safe to set out plants in the open, the flat can be carried to the garden and transplanted done with a minimum of shock to the plant and disturbance to the roots. A single flat of minimum size has room to develop 60 seedling plants to transplanting size without check if the seeds are sown in rows two inches apart and thinned out to stand two inches apart in the row. The excess plants can be moved to other flats if desired, and thus all seedlings saved, for transplanting to exactly the place desired in the garden. Plants started in the home, or in the cold frame before the weather is warm enough for outdoor operations, get a head start which results in an earlier harvest of flowers or vegetables in spite of the brief setback which they may receive when transplanted. Flowers which should be started early, if possible, include petunias, snapdragons, and asters, all of which germinate and grow slowly. Most of the annual flowers can be started early, enabling them to start blooming as much as a month earlier than when sown direct in the garden. Vegetables which need an early start include egg plant, peppers, cabbage, broccoli and cauliflower.

One Chance in Three!

A SURVEY in one large midwestern state found that one of every three persons who had their eyes examined, really needed medical care.

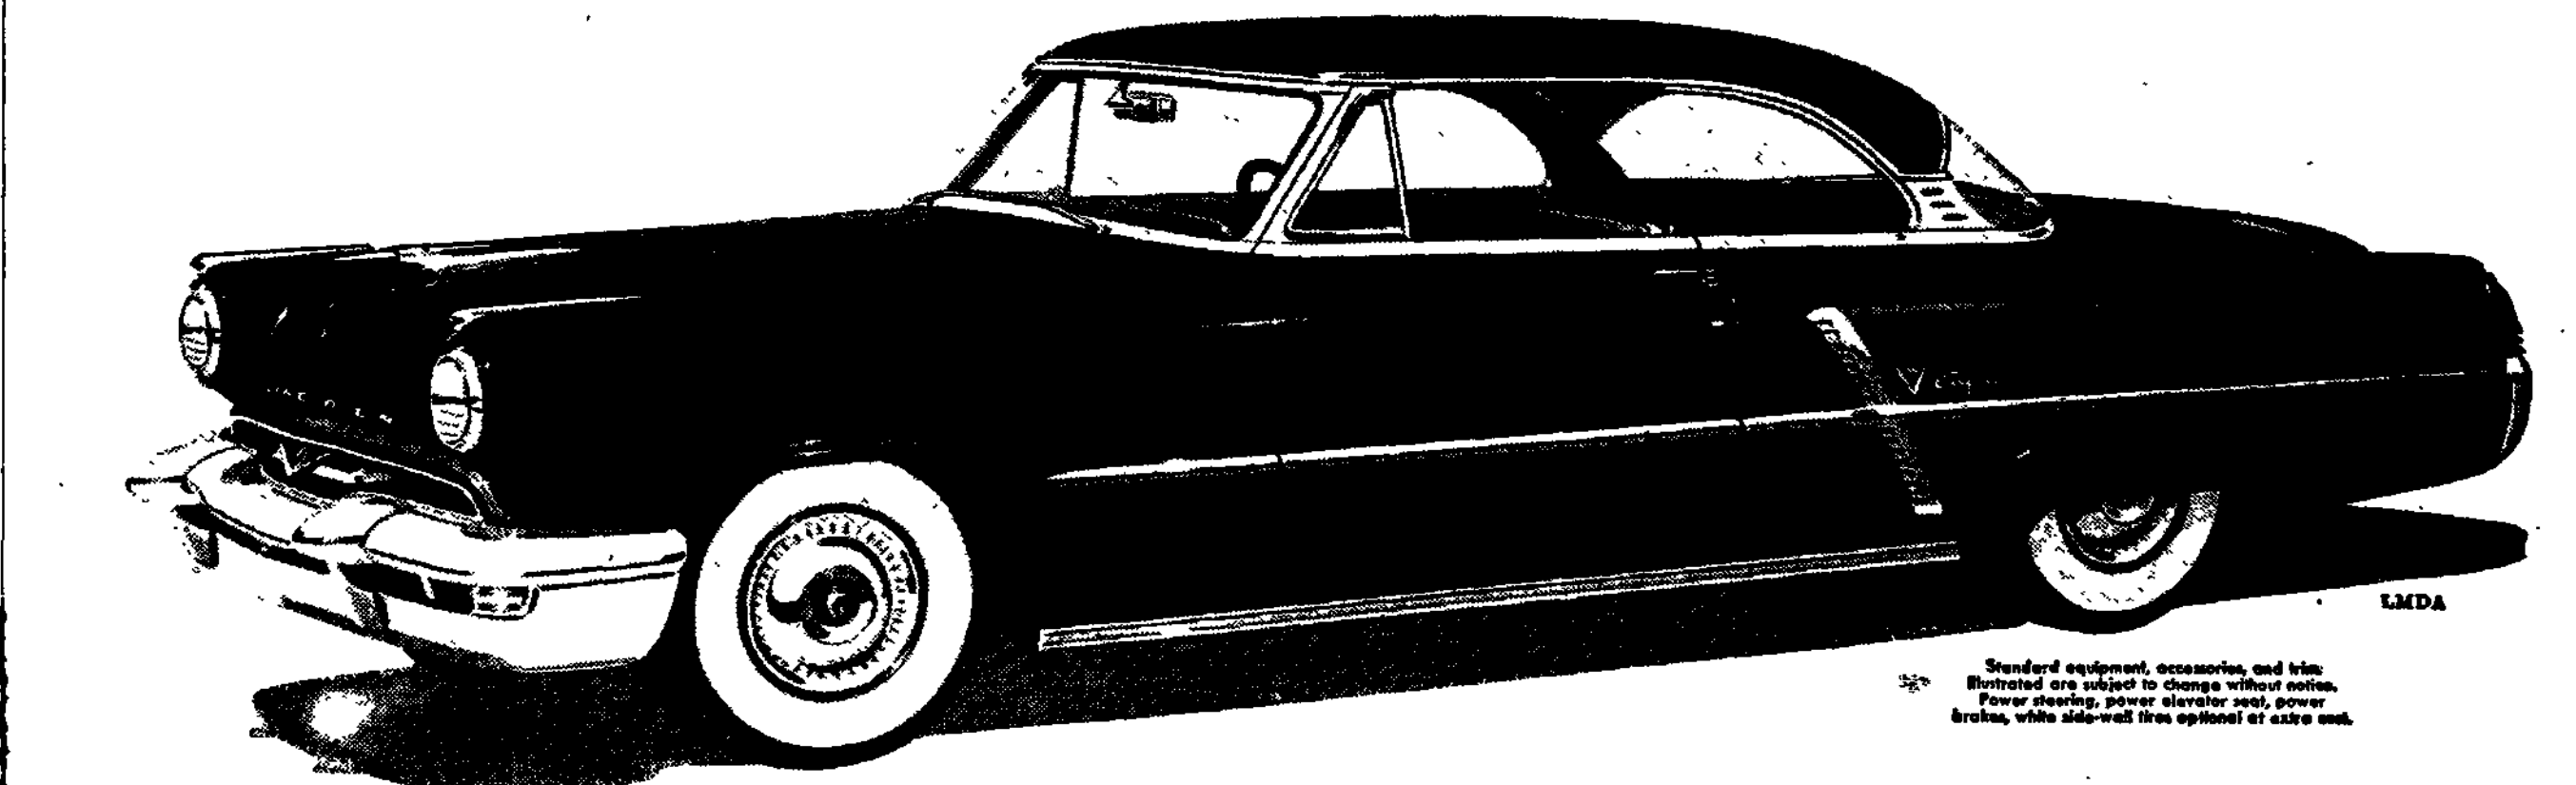

That's why you will want your eyes examined by an Eye Physician, a Medical Doctor who prescribes glasses if they are needed, medical treatment if they are not.

SOMEDAY OTHER CARS MAY BE COMPLETELY POWERED — BUT WHY WAIT?

You have dreamed of such a car, so completely powered that it all but drives itself. Dream no more—for now such a car comes to life in the new 1953 Lincoln. Power is in the steering wheel, combined with ball-joint front wheel suspension . . . and it controls the brakes. Power adjusts the front seat back and forth . . . but more, up and down. And there is more of it than you may ever need in the astonishing 205-horsepower V-8 engine. This is Lincoln—the car that earned a sweeping 1-2-3-4 victory in the Mexican Pan-American Race, world's most severe competitive motor car test. And this is the kind of car excitement that happens once in a motoring age. Let it happen to you right now. Take your demonstration drive today in a new Lincoln Cosmopolitan or Capri.

billion dollars available. The year before they had a billion more than that. Since they needed only some $18,000,000 to pay for what they got from us in merchandise and services, they have been able to swell their reserves. This switch from dollar shortages to dollar surpluses hasn't gone far enough yet to put them on easy street. But it does give point to Eden's plea for "trade, not aid," and hope that aid can be trimmed. The name "Formosa" comes from the Portuguese, "Ilha Formosa" which means "beautiful island."

When the United States bought Alaska from Russia in 1867, it is estimated that there were about 30,000 people in the area, about two-thirds of whom were Eskimos and Indians. Airplanes were first used in war against the Turkish forces in Tripoli in 1911 and 1912.

Chapter Five

THE trees sighed in a puff of ocean wind. Bees droned, twittering birds darted blackly across the sky, twilight became a shade thicker. Soon it would be time to go inside and help Maggi Colahan serve the dinner, soon it would be time to call up Guyette like an army for the further pleasure of the hotel's guests. But in the meantime there were her thoughts to examine and separate and deal with once and for all. To be perfectly fair about it, Bob's patience had been sorely tried for more months than it should have been. She should either have accepted his ring or stopped dating him. It shouldn't have been necessary for him to write the note he'd written, that strangely childish note of a man in pain. Sh. scowled, looking over her shoulder as the big front door opened. She met her mother's blue eyes and smiled self-consciously. She wondered if her mother was psychic. She always seemed to sense when something had gone wrong. Now the sky was all rose, and under that sky the ocean took on the appearance of a tranquil, rose-colored lake. Clear Lake, she thought, looks that way in the sunset, and she wondered if she shouldn't spend the summer up there. Perhaps she needed to get away. Perhaps she needed weeks and weeks of beauty and solitude, the opportunity to relax, the chance really to think. "Remember Clear Lake, Mom? Remember the fun we had up there a couple of summers ago?" Ellen Carlisle smiled reminiscently. "Such fun," she drawled in her pleasant contralto. "We were lucky to return alive!" "At least one could think there, Mom. And all the people you met were pleasant. They weren't always giving a girl problems?" "Is Bob the problem?" "What answer can I give you? You just know. You look at the man and he's more important to you than anyone else in the world—parents included. You want to be with him. You want to be with him whether he's rich or poor, ill or well. The thought of spending a lifetime with him fills you with a sort of ecstasy. You live for the day of marriage. In short, he's right for you, and all your nerves, your mind, your heart, tell you so." "Or a voice, like Grammy used to say?" "Personally, I never heard a voice, dear. I just looked at your silly father and knew." "He is not silly!" "If you don't know, then you

AND the meal began. With Langley Curtis across the table from her, Ruth found it a jolly meal. The man had apparently been everywhere and done everything. While soup was served and consumed, Mr. Langley Curtis discussed certain of the queer customs of Siam. Salad found him not at all reluctant to recite stanzas of his favorite poetry—a performance that delayed the meal for the simple reason that his musical baritone held Maggi Colahan utterly spellbound. But it was when the roast ham came that Mr. Langley Curtis really got rolling along into high. Then he talked about radio, about the program he'd had for fourteen years, about the people he'd met all over the country, about the beauties of the country itself. And vibrato crept into his tones. Color came into his face, now enthusiasm glowed in his remarkable purple eyes. He didn't chat, but expounded. Yet it was agreeable to be talked at rather than talked with. He had a beautiful command of the English language. Then abruptly, while you were hungering for more, he proved himself to be a real genius by stopping. "But I talk too much," he chuckled, laughing at himself. He flung a gay glance at his nephew seated beside Ruth Carlisle. "Dan tells me that's a bad habit of mine." Later Dan Curtis dropped into the chair beside her on the veranda. "You're too tense, Miss Carlisle. I've noticed that you never really relax. For instance, you're not now. Here's something to do. Unclench your hands. And if you'll remember that relaxed hands mean a relaxed body, you'll be better off." She looked down at her hands, startled. "Well, for goodness sake!" He laughed softly. "You might remember," he began, then stopped. For now, with sirens and honking horns, the quiet was being effectively shattered. Up the curving gravel drive through the park-like grounds came several limousines, with two motorcycle cops zooming along before them to clear the way. Thunder filled the night; then came the sound of the front door, and excited people from all directions to learn what was going on. They weren't kept in suspense. From the most imposing limousine stepped Mayor Luchetti himself. He waved his elegant walking-stick, he flashed his gold-toothed smile. He met the baleful glance of Ephraim Carlisle on the veranda and flurriedly bowed. "My fine friend, always it's a pleasure to see you!" "Crook!" roared Ephraim. "Politician!" Ruth rushed to her father's side. After all, he hadn't yet been named to oppose Mayor Luchetti in October! "What a pleasant surprise, Mayor Luchetti! Won't you come in?" "Such a sweet girl," crooned the mayor. He stalked into the living-room, resplendent in checked suit and purple necktie. Behind him came Sean O'Malley, owner of the Golden City Spectator, and Miss Westertep, president of the Golden City Historical Association. Announced the mayor: "We come for to make the welcome, Mr. Carlisle, not for to welcome the great Langley Curtis to Golden City." In strode Dan Curtis, and with him came Nancy and Ellen Carlisle. Dan Curtis grinned placatingly. "My uncle happens to be ill. By the way, how did you people find out?" Nancy inched backwards toward the door. The redheaded owner of the Golden City Spectator grinned faintly. "Oh, we have eyes and ears, sir. You're Daniel Curtis, of course." He glanced about. "Any objection to introducing us to your uncle? We're honored to have him among us, of course." "Soon, gentlemen, soon. My uncle still isn't up to it." MAYOR LUCHETTI stared. "Then why you no send for the doc? You think small town she don't have good doc? Hah! He's a great doc even if she's crazy for to have a hospital here." "We need one!" bellowed Ephraim Carlisle. "Please," Mayor Luchetti held up an authoritative hand. "She's no time for politics! A sick man is upstairs without the doc. He's deservin' our respect, hah?" "You misunderstand," said Dan Curtis quietly. "I'm a doctor, and of course I'm treating my uncle." Ruth met the flashing black eyes. His comments a few minutes ago began to make sense. An idea came to her. Maybe he could tell her why her ears were ringing so. There was time for politics after all. Mayor Luchetti exuded sudden charm. "She's a doc! Hey, you practice here?" "I may," Dan Curtis shrugged. "I may even build a hospital here. But now's hardly the time to discuss that." He turned to Ephraim Carlisle. His voice was very crisp and worldly now. He had the assurance and poise, suddenly, one expected a good doctor to have. "Suppose we let them meet my uncle sometime late next week?" "My friend," crooned Mayor Luchetti. "She's joost what we need—a doc who'll build a hospital!" That was when Sean O'Malley hustled to the big front door. He had a once-in-a-lifetime thing. He had not one, but two smash stories! The first would thrill celebrity-starved Golden City. The second would rock the town to its foundations. Meeting Ruth's eyes, he grinned. As he saw it, the summer would be the most interesting summer in years. (To be continued)
